DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE,

OTTAWA, January 11, 1945.

The Honourable J. L. ILSLEY,
Minister of Finance.

SIR,—In accordance with section 38 of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, 1931, I have the honour to submit to you herewith the Public Accounts of the Dominion of Canada for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944.

INTRODUCTION—ANALYSIS OF THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

A. INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

At the close of the Introduction to the Public Accounts for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1943, in reference to the new form of the Public Accounts, I said

All those associated with the undertaking, however, would agree, I believe, that there is still room for further improvement. Plans for other modifications and additions which we had in mind for this volume have had to be postponed because of lack of time and shortage of staff. These and other improvements we hope to make in succeeding Reports.

Some, though by no means all, of the improvements then in mind it has proven possible to make this year. Perhaps the most important of these is the revision of the classification of the balance sheet; this is more fully discussed in the next section. Another is the extension of the comparative feature of the balance sheet (first introduced in 1942-43) to the schedules.

Following the procedure started last year, this Introduction will endeavour to summarize the Dominion's financial transactions in such a way as to assist the reader in grasping the significance of the voluminous details to be found in Parts I and II of the Report, and to assist also in putting them in proper perspective in relation to one another. The financial reports of a body engaging in so many diverse and extensive activities as the Dominion Government must necessarily be voluminous and complicated even with the best of presentation; by means of this summary however it is hoped that the ordinary reader will be able to follow the general outlines. In furtherance of this object all or nearly all the figures on these pages have been rounded off to the nearest hundred thousand dollars. Those who wish to pursue details will find them in Parts I and II.

The pages to follow will present, with appropriate comments upon the more significant aspects of each item: the Dominion's balance sheet; a brief summary of the expenditure and revenue statement; a statement of the budgetary deficit or the increase in net debt; a more detailed summary of expenditure; a similarly expanded summary of revenue; the percentage distribution of revenue and expenditure; a statement of the requirements for and sources of cash, contrasting such a statement with the summary statement of expenditure and revenue already mentioned; and the indirect or contingent liabilities of the Dominion. Wherever practicable throughout this Introduction, comparative figures are shown for the past five fiscal years, for these are the years that have elapsed in the struggle that now encompasses most of mankind.

B. THE BALANCE SHEET AS AT MARCH 31, 1944.

(1) The New Form of the Balance Sheet.

A balance sheet is the presentation of the financial position of the entity to which it relates as at a particular moment of time—usually the close of business on the last day of the financial year—after giving effect to the changes resulting from the transactions that have been effected since the previous balance sheet. Balance sheets should be made up in a form that will show all the significant relationships and contrasts between the items of which they are composed. Of course that is to counsel perfection; except in very simple cases it is impossible to accomplish this ideal result in a single understandable statement, thus there is usually room for differences of opinion on methods of presentation. Furthermore as conditions change old relationships become relatively less important and new ones arise, so that revisions are necessary from time to time.

Until this year's revision, the Dominion's balance sheet has remained substantially unchanged in form since 1920. The changes of content during the last twenty-odd years have been great, especially those of the five war years just past, and so it has been thought advisable to recast the pattern in which the statement is made. By grouping the accounts and showing sub-totals for each group the figures are presented in a way that will assist the reader in understanding what the various items are, how they are related to each other, and what is the significance of the whole.

In order to show a comparable presentation for previous years, all balance sheets back to that as at March 31, 1939, have been recast in the new form and appear as Appendix No. 13 to Part I of this Report, at page 49. Schedules are attached showing the breakdown of those items which did not appear in similar form in previous years. It is not intended to repeat this appendix in future years; it is included this year for purposes of record. It will be noted that the period covered is that of the five completed fiscal years during which the present war has raged, and thus includes most of the changes in the content of the balance sheet.

Table I gives, in summary form, the balance sheet as at March 31 in each year from 1939 to 1944 inclusive.

(2) Important Items in the Balance Sheet as at March 31, 1944.

The balance sheet of the Dominion is shown in Part I, pages 2 and 3. Following the practice initiated last year it is given on a comparative basis, disclosing not only the amount of each item at the close of the fiscal year 1943-44 but also the corresponding amount at the close of 1942-43 and the change during the year. A reference number is given to each item and on pages 4 to 7 there is an explanatory note for each. Table I above gives the same information in abbreviated form, and extends the record back to March 31, 1939, as well; the same reference numbers have been used as in Part I.

It will be noted that the aggregate liabilities of the Dominion amounted to $12,359.1 million at March 31, 1944, an increase of $3,239.2 million during the year. Nearly 89 per cent of the aggregate liabilities is represented by funded debt (including Treasury Bills, Deposit Certificates, and the estimated refundable portion of the personal income tax and the excess profits tax). Fortunately, however, the part of the funded debt which is payable in foreign currencies has decreased still further both relatively and absolutely, so that it is now less than 4 per cent of the total—the equivalent of $12.4 million in London and $333 million in New York out of a total of $10,936.8 million. Floating debt (which consists of outstanding cheques and interest, matured funded debt outstanding, and similar demand liabilities) was only $106.5 million, a decrease of $15.3 million from the comparable figure a year previously. Sundry funds deposited with the Receiver General or held in trust for various purposes amounted to $862.9 million, and the amounts at the credit of a number of insurance, pension, and guaranty funds totalled a further $366.6 million. The remaining items on the liabilities side of the balance sheet are: deferred credits (balances whose ultimate accounting treatment is known, but which are held until certain conditions are met), $16.9 million; sundry suspense accounts (where some uncertainty as to disposition exists), $36.0 million; provincial debt accounts (settlements arising out of the agreements at the time of Confederation), $11.9 million; and reserves for certain contingencies (excluding the reserve for the revaluation of active assets, which is deducted from the value of those assets in order to give a truer picture of their realizable value), $21.4 million.

Offsetting these liabilities (and in a measure explaining their existence, because much of the Dominion's debt is attributable to the loans, advances, and investments which form a large part of the assets) are what are known as Active Assets, following the classification adopted in the budget speech of 1920. Essentially, they consist of the earning assets (that is, assets which yield interest or profits and dividends) together with very liquid assets such as cash and bullion.

The principal active assets at March 31, 1944 were: cash, $18.2 million; departmental working capital, $7.8 million; recoverable loans and advances, $2,844.8 million (including loans and advances of $572.8 million to various railway and steamship companies, of $585 million to the Foreign Exchange Control Board, and of $1,190.1 million to the United Kingdom and various foreign governments, all arising largely out of war transactions); investments, $225.4 million; provincial debt accounts (like the liability item already mentioned, this is part of the settlements arising out of the Confederation agreements), $2.3 million; deferred charges (the cost of loan flotations, in process of being amortized over the life of the loans), $81.7 million; and sundry debit suspense accounts, $538.9 million.

The non-active assets will be described in Section D below, in connection with the net debt.

(3) Balance Sheet Changes during the Fiscal Year 1943-44.

The changes in the balance sheet in any year are of two distinct types: (a) changes in the net debt (item 8 of Table I), which result from the net effect of the annual revenue and expenditure in producing a deficit or a surplus; and (b) more or less autonomous changes in assets and liabilities. The former type will be explained in Section D below, which is entitled "The Deficit, or Increase in Net Debt"; but at this point comment on the latter type of change is in order.

The Government is frequently called upon to make loans or investments of various kinds in carrying out its policies, or otherwise to acquire active assets, and from time to time it realizes on property previously acquired. These activities are quite outside the field of annual expenditures and revenues in the strict accounting sense, though of course they must be authorized by parliament in exactly the same way as expenditures and normally they are related to or complement them. Similarly the changes in liabilities, while they may be affected to an important degree by governmental actions, are in most cases quite unrelated to the annual revenues and expenditures.

Turning to more specific comments, the fluctuations in cash need no explanation since it is a residual item dependent mainly on the timing of the receipt of revenues and the proceeds of borrowing operations, on the one hand, and the rate of cash outlay, on the other. Similarly, changes in departmental working balances are easily understood as relating mainly to changing volume of work in progress.

The annual change in loans and advances calls for more detailed treatment, as this has become the largest item among the active assets. Probably no better comment could be made than to present Table II, which is a summary of the principal changes in loans and advances during the past five fiscal years. Some further detail is given in Section H below, which analyzes total requirements for and sources of cash, and in Appendix No. 13 at page 49 of Part I; complete details will be found in the departmental sections of Part II so far as 1943-44 is concerned, and in the corresponding sections of the Public Accounts for 1942-43. The table follows:

<sup>5</sup> In addition to the two items shown there are write-offs of Canadian Farm Loan Board stock each year, but the amounts are too small to appear in this table.

There is one item in the table—Item No. 1, Loans and Advances to the Canadian National Railways—which is of sufficient special interest to warrant more detailed treatment so far as the fiscal year 1943-44 is concerned, especially as the figure in this table is the net result of many transactions, some of which also appear in the revenue and expenditure tables. These transactions may be divided into five different categories: (1) advances under various statutes; (2) purchase of railway equipment which in turn is leased to the Railway; (3) repayments of loans; (4) instalment payments on hire-purchase agreements; and (5) miscellaneous adjustments between certain accounts, as follows:

1. Advances—

Under Canadian National Railways Financing and Guarantee Act, 1940—Purchase of Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada 4 per cent Perpetual Consolidated Debenture Stock.....	1,180,150

Advances—War Appropriation Acts—Capital purposes in connection with oil drilling campaign.....	628,000
Total Net Income Surplus.....	$35,639,412

4. Repayments of instalments under Hire Purchase Agreements—

1936 Agreement .....	$ 517,173
1940 Agreement .....	991,968
1941 Agreement .....	1,382,634
Total Equipment Repayments .....	$ 2,891,775

5. Miscellaneous Adjustments:—

Surplus available from Depreciation Reserves and Debt Discount Amortization after providing for capital expenditures during 1943—Applied to advances under the Refunding Act, 1938.....	$ 5,877,327
Financing and Guarantee Act, 1941—Purchase of securities from Canadian holders (Adjustment of advances previously made under Financing and Guarantee Act, 1941, transferred to other authorities included in Category No. 1) .....	1,323,604
Total .....	$ 7,200,931
Total repayments .....	$45,732,118
Net repayments .....	$ 3,907,096

It will be noted that category No. 3 is a repayment of previous loans, as are No. 4 and No. 5, and arises through the policy of applying the net income surpluses of the company to the repayment of previous loans made by the government. This group might prove confusing if not explained, for the same amount appears on both sides of the revenue and expenditure statement. There however the entries are merely of a bookkeeping nature, in order to show the value of the C.N.R. Securities Trust Stock on the Dominion's books at the same amount as on the books of the company; they merely record the change in the Dominion's equity in the railway. (Indeed this whole situation is chiefly interesting because it shows the dual role of the government with respect to the C.N.R.—that of bondholder or creditor on the one hand, and that of stockholder or equity owner on the other.)

The changes in the remaining items on the asset side are largely self-explanatory, except for changes in the net debt which will be treated in Section D below.

Few of the changes in liabilities require comment. Since the floating debt may well be described as involuntary borrowing (consisting of cheques and other liquid instruments not yet presented for payment by the government's creditors), its current level reflects the vastly increased volume of payments being made, though with some fluctuations from year to year as might be expected. The increase in Deposit and Trust Funds, aside from a temporary deposit of advance payments for War Supplies Ltd. in 1941-42, is almost wholly due to two special accounts in the name of the Minister of Finance, opened for custody purposes; these accounts appear for record only and may be disregarded here as they are merely contra entries to accounts on the Assets side. The increase in Insurance, Pension, and Guaranty accounts is mainly due to the War Damage Insurance fund, to funds built up to cover employees' compensation on government-owned defence projects, and to the Retirement Fund deductions from the salaries of temporary war-time civil servants. Even the increase in funded debt needs little comment, for it is clearly dictated by the need to cover the excess of expenditure over revenue, and the increase in active assets, and the need to ensure a sufficient working cash balance. This item will be discussed in more detail later, in connection with the analysis of requirements for and sources of cash, presented in Section H.

C. SUMMARY OF EXPENDITURE AND REVENUE

Before beginning a more detailed examination of expenditures and revenues, with which the next few sections will be concerned, it may be useful to take a brief overall look at the totals involved and how these totals have changed during five war years. In 1939-40 total expenditures were $680·8 million, including war expenditure of $118·3 million or 17·4 per cent of the total; in 1943-44 total expenditures were $5,322·3 million, of which war expenditures were $4,587·0 million or 86·2 per cent. In order to meet these enormously increased expenditures, revenues rose from $562·1 million (1939-40) to $2,765 million (1943-44), leaving a deficit which rose from $118·7 million to $2,557·2 million. These changes are shown in Table III, where the causal role of expenditures under the war appropriations (the so-called "war expenditures") can be plainly seen. Indeed it is literally true to speak of the "causal role" of war expenditures, for the policy has been not to allow financial considerations to limit war activities; Canada's participation has been based on what has been considered fair and proper on the basis of physical considerations, and this in turn has determined the financial burden to be met.

NOTE: Due to rounding off the columns may not add exactly to the totals shown.

<sup>2</sup> A change in the practice with respect to certain adjustments of the C.N.R. non-active accounts occurred in 1943-44, affecting items 5 and 15. On the previous basis item 5, Other Charges, would have been $63.9 million in 1943-44; on the new basis the 1939-40 figure would have been unchanged, 1940-41 would have been $34.9 million; 1941-42, $26.9 million; and 1942-43, $56.7 million. The annual deficits would be unchanged however, for offsetting adjustments would occur in Revenue since the entries involved are contras and appear in both places. These offsetting adjustments would be in item 15, Special Receipts and Other Credits.

It must be observed parenthetically that the terms "war expenditure" and "non-war expenditure" as used here are to a considerable degree arbitrary. The former means simply those expenditures charged to the various war appropriations, and the latter means all other expenditures. The compensation paid to the provinces for vacating the personal income and the corporation tax fields, and for loss of gasoline tax revenue, are directly attributable to the war, as are a large portion (or all) of the increase in interest on the public debt and in the cost of revenue collection, yet none of these is charged to the war appropriation and so none is included in war expenditure. Indeed the costs of nearly all government services have increased due to the war. On the other hand, however, war expenditures and war activities have resulted directly or indirectly in the reduction of other expenditures; for example they have contributed materially to the improvement in the finances of the Canadian National Railways, thus converting what used to be an operating deficit into a surplus.

It is possible to amend Table III to include only that part of the fiscal year 1939-40 from September 1, 1939 on, by making use of the monthly summaries of expenditure and revenue published by the Comptroller of the Treasury. This will give a reasonably close approximation to the period from the start of the war to date, though there are certain errors introduced by such a procedure. It is not merely that Canada officially declared war on September 10, 1939, for war expenditures may be considered to begin some time prior to the start of hostilities and there is thus a certain arbitrariness in any choice of starting date; it is rather that certain transactions are entered as expenditure or revenue only once a year, before the close of the books. Some of these could perhaps be pro-rated over the year (for example the amortization of bond discounts and commissions) but others can not (for example the net gain or loss in Premium, Discount, and Exchange Account, which may be distributed very unevenly over the year). On balance it has been thought best to use the Comptroller's statement without adjustment; the division of the year into "war" and "non-war" portions is arbitrary at best, the adjustments that could be made with reasonable assurance are relatively small, and to attempt them might give an appearance of accuracy to the figures which would not be justified. With these qualifications, then, Table IV modifies the figures in Table III so as to summarize expenditure and revenue from the start of the present war to March 31, 1944.

Table V adds an interesting comparison of the corresponding period in the war of 1914-18 with that covered in Table IV. In this case the fiscal year 1918-19 is included, which covered a period of some five months after the cessation of hostilities; but this does not distort the picture for war and demobilization expenses continued through the whole of that year and most of 1919-20 as well. The contrast between the portion of total expenditure raised by taxation and other revenue measures in the present war with that in 1914-18 is particularly striking, since the scale of expenditure is so much greater now—in the one year 1943-44 expenditures were nearly two and one-third times as great as during the entire comparable period of the earlier conflict.

D. THE DEFICIT OR INCREASE IN NET DEBT.

(1) The Nature of the Net Debt.

There are two elements which make up the net debt. One of these comprises capital and non-active accounts; it arises out of the accounting practices outlined in the 1920 budget speech. Among other things it was decided that all assets which were not revenue producing or by nature highly liquid would be treated as "non-active"—in other words, treated as if outlay on them was very little different from current unrecoverable expenditure. The assets in question are the works acquired by the government as a result of expenditures designated as "capital" in the annual estimates, and certain other advances, investments, and receivables, including the Dominion's equity in the Canadian National Railways. The question of whether an asset is an earning asset or not must, of course, be answered on the basis of experience over a number of years. Some accounts classed as non-active may yield a return in favourable years, and some classed as active may fail to yield a return in certain years.

With respect to the so-called capital accounts, it should be noted that they do not include all items that are "capital" in the sense of giving service over a number of years, but only those paid for out of appropriations classed as Capital Expenditure by the expending departments in submitting their annual estimates to Parliament. Departmental practices vary concerning what items are so considered.

The other element in the net debt, and by far the larger, is the Consolidated Deficit Account (formerly known as the Consolidated Fund—its name has been changed to avoid confusion with the very different Consolidated Revenue Fund, which is a title used to mean all moneys on deposit with the Receiver General for any purpose). The Consolidated Deficit Account is nothing more than the excess of expenditures over revenues on current account, accumulated since Confederation. It includes the write-down of both active and non-active assets, as authorized by Parliament from time to time.

It will be observed that a deficit (the excess of annual expenditure over annual revenue) must result in a corresponding increase in the net debt of the Dominion, for it can only be covered by an increase in liabilities or a decrease in active assets. Conversely, a surplus reduces the net debt.

(2) The Increase in Net Debt during the Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 1944.

The deficit or increase in net debt was $2,557.2 million in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944. Table VI shows how this increase was made up, and compares it with the increases during the preceding four fiscal years. As will be shown below in Section H, which summarizes the requirements for and sources of cash, the deficit must not be confused with the net cash requirements or the cash deficiency. It is simply the amount by which the net liabilities of the Dominion have increased as a result of the financial transactions of the year, on the assumption that all active assets are realizable.

E. ANALYSIS OF EXPENDITURE.(1) Ordinary Expenditure.(a) Public Debt Charges.

Interest on the public debt is the largest single item of non-war expenditure, amounting to $242.7 million in 1943-44. This is not great in relation to total expenditures of $5,322.3 million and total revenues of $2,765.0 million—only 4.6 per cent and 8.8 per cent respectively. It is even less in proportion to national income, which is a much more significant comparison since the interest payment is important mainly as a claim upon income.

It has already been noted however that a substantial portion of the Dominion's funded debt is attributable to the acquisition of earning assets. That being so, it is proper to deduct the interest or other return from these investments from the total interest paid out and examine the remainder—what might be called the net interest payment. The amount will be found at item 46, Table XII, page xxxiv under the heading "Return on Investments"; in 1943-44 this amounted to $48.3 million, so that the net interest payment was only $194.4 million. This is 3.7 per cent of expenditure or 7.0 per cent of revenue for the year.

Only the interest payable abroad, however, forms a real drain upon the national income; apart from possible indirect effects, interest payable to Canadians only "costs" the nation as a whole the administrative expenses incurred in collecting the revenue from the taxpayers and paying it out to the bondholders. There is no precise information available concerning the portion of the Dominion's debt which is held abroad, but it may be presumed to approximate the debt payable in foreign currencies. In 1943-44 interest of only $14 million was so payable, or 0.3 per cent of total expenditure.

Adding the annual amortization of bond discounts and commissions, the cost of new loan flotations, and certain service charges to the figure of $242.7 million in interest payments, gives a total of $262.1 million for all public debt charges during 1943-44. In addition, however, $17.4 million in discounts and commissions on loans issued during the year were added to Deferred Charges, to be amortized over the life of the respective loans. The comparable figure for public debt charges in 1938-39, was $133.1 million; the increase during this period is attributable to the huge war expenditures of recent years.

(b) Other Uncontrollable Items.

Besides public debt charges, many other items in Ordinary Expenditure are of a contractual nature or are such that for policy or other reasons they could not easily be curtailed. Some items, for example, the expenditures of the Post Office and the National Revenue Departments, which might not normally be considered as uncontrollable, must be so considered now because their present level is dictated largely by war activities. The more important of these uncontrollable items and the relative expenditures in 1943-44 are:—

Unemployment Insurance Act—the government's contribution and cost of administration .....	$17.5 million
Pensions—old age pensions, war and military pensions, superannuation payments, etc. ....	72.9 “
National Revenue Department expenditure.....	17.7 “
Post Office Department expenditure.....	48.5 “
Provinces—subsidies, and payments in compensation for vacating the personal income and the corporation tax fields and for the loss of gasoline tax revenue.....	109.9 “
Total of these uncontrollable items.....	$266.5 “

(c) Controllable Ordinary Expenditure.

Out of total ordinary expenditure of $630.4 million in 1943-44 we have seen that public debt charges and other uncontrollable items account for $528.6 million. Accordingly controllable ordinary expenditure amounts to only $101.8 million.

(2) Capital Expenditure.

Charges for expenditures classed as Capital amounted to only $2.6 million during the year. Details will be found on page 10 of Part I and in the sections on the Departments of Public Works and Transport in Part II.

(3) Special Expenditure.

Special Expenditure amounted to $37.5 million in 1943-44. The largest single item was for payments of awards to farmers under the wheat acreage reduction plan, amounting to $30.1 million; if cost of administration amounting to nearly another million dollars ($0.8 million) be added, this accounts for 82.5 per cent of all special expenditure. The remainder consisted of payments on relief projects, $3.8 million, administration of The Prairie Farm Assistance Act, 1939, $0.2 million, and (under the same Act) advances to the Prairie Farm Emergency Fund, $2.6 million.

(4) Government Owned Enterprises.

Expenditures under this heading may be divided into two types: payments to meet the operating deficits of business enterprises wholly owned by the Dominion of Canada, and non-active loans and advances made to such enterprises. Expenditure of the former type during 1943-44 was $0.7 million for the Prince Edward Island Car Ferry and Terminals and a relatively small amount ($29,488.66) for the harbour at Churchill—both figures being for the calendar year 1943. An amount of $0.6 million was provided to the National Harbours Board in non-active advances.

(5) Other Charges, Including Write-Down of Assets.

Total charges so classified aggregated $63.4 million. Of this amount $25.6 million constituted write-downs of active and non-active assets—principally the addition of a further sum of $25 million to the reserve for possible losses on the ultimate realization of active assets. (Incidentally the scope of this reserve is now enlarged to include all active assets; formerly it was considered as applying only to Loans and Advances.) The remainder consists of statutory reductions of soldier and general land settlement loans, $0.6 million, and two relatively small items—the yearly established losses on the seed grain and relief accounts administered by the Department of Mines and Resources ($28,847.05) and the cancellation of Canadian Farm Loan Board Capital Stock ($4,592).

The other items under this heading are adjustments in the stated value of the Canadian National Railways Securities Trust Stock, which represents the Dominion's equity as stockholder in the Railway, in order to agree with the value shown on the balance sheet of the company. They comprise increases due to the net income surplus of the C.N.R., $35.6 million, and to the capital gain on the repatriation of securities, $2.4 million, and a decrease of $0.2 million due to the capital loss on line abandonments, or a net increase of $37.8 million. (All figures relate to the calendar year 1943.) These entries are merely a bookkeeping adjustment and do not involve any outlay of cash; a contra entry appears in revenue, so the year's deficit is not affected. In particular, these transactions must not be confused with those described in section B above, where the application of the net income surplus of $35.6 million to the retirement of advances by the Dominion was described. The transactions in that case were those in which the company used available cash to repay a creditor for loans previously made, whereas here we are considering the effect on the sole stockholder resulting from an improvement in the position of a wholly-owned subsidiary. It is true that the creditor and the stockholder are one and the same—the Dominion Government—but the distinction is clear nevertheless. The increased value of the stockholder's equity results automatically from the company's improved position, but the repayment of the creditor depends on the policy decisions of the company and the Government and on the terms of the debt; it is not necessarily related to the amount of the surplus. It may be some help in understanding these complicated entries if we observe that the net effect is as if the company had turned over to the Dominion as sole stockholder the net profit of $35·6 million and the net return of capital amounting to $2·2 million, the Dominion had re-invested these sums in the company, and the company had chosen to use $35·6 million of it to retire outstanding obligations to the Dominion as creditor and to use the remainder for general purposes as part of its working capital. (From the point of view of the company the retirement of interest-bearing obligations is analagous to an investment in earning assets.) It must be reiterated however that it is only the debt repayment to the Dominion that actually involved the transfer of cash; the other entries are merely book adjustments which show (by the revenue entry) that the net improvement of the company's finances accrues to the Dominion as sole equity owner and (by the debit or expenditure entries) that the form in which this value has been received is as an increase in the value of the Securities Trust Stock classed as a non-active asset.

It will be noted that the treatment of the adjustment of the C.N.R. Securities Trust Stock for losses due to line abandonments has been altered this year in order to clarify it. The net effect on the value of the Securities Trust Stock and on the budgetary deficit is exactly the same as in the previous method, though both total expenditure and total revenue are reduced somewhat.

(6) Total Non-War Expenditure.

Adding together the amounts shown under the various categories of expenditure in the preceding five subsections, we get the total of the so-called non-war expenditure—that is all expenditure except charges to The War Appropriation Acts. As already seen in section C above the distinction is rather arbitrary; nevertheless it has a practical justification as a readily available, easily understood, and reasonably meaningful figure. For 1943-44 it amounted to $735·2 million; this is shown in Table VIII, which also gives comparable figures for the preceding fiscal years back to 1938-39, the last pre-war year.

<sup>5</sup> Pensions to the aged and blind, and administration; the government's contribution to Superannuation Fund No. 5, costs of Plans No. 1, 3, 4, and 6, and administration; European War pensions (1914-18); Militia Pensions Act, 1901; R.C.M.P. Act pensions; and pensions to retired judges. There are sundry other pensions paid by the government, but their total is relatively small.

<sup>7</sup> Controllable expenditures not specially affected by the war. Note, however, that the war has increased the costs of many of the services concerned.

This table shows how the figure for non-war expenditures is derived, and analyzes it to show that after the deduction of a relatively few uncontrollable items, services initiated during the war as a matter of policy, and items showing increases largely attributable to the war, the remainder is only $105.6 million, out of $735.2 million, or 14.4 per cent. The deficits of the Canadian National Railways have been included with the uncontrollable items in the earlier years, as have the adjustments of the C.N.R. Securities Trust Stock in later years. Special expenditures (relief), which have declined substantially since 1938-39 and 1939-40, have also been eliminated, so that the residual line (item 16 in the table) represents the normal expenditures of government and gives comparable figures for the six fiscal years. These controllable expenditures have fallen from $112.2 million in 1938-39 and $118.5 million in 1939-40 (which must be considered a pre-war year in many respects, since the level of non-war activity was largely determined before the outbreak of hostilities) to $105.6 million in 1943-44. It is true that they have increased somewhat in the last two fiscal years, after reaching a low of $103.8 million in 1941-42, but this increase is creditably small at this stage of the war, for it must not be forgotten that the war has increased the costs of many of the services concerned.

(7) War Expenditure.

Total expenditures charged during 1943-44 to the various War Appropriation Acts amounted to $4,587 million, measuring a war effort of significant magnitude for a nation of under 12 million people. This is an increase of 23·2 per cent over the $3,724·2 million reached in 1942-43, which was itself a notable achievement. The figure for the single year 1943-44 is two and three quarter times the total war and demobilization costs of the Great War up to March 31, 1920.

The Department of National Defence and the Department of Munitions and Supply accounted for $3,316·8 million of the total war expenditures in 1943-44, or 72·3 per cent. Mutual Aid added another $912·6 million, or 19·9 per cent of the total. The remainder represents war expenditures of various other departments. Table IX shows the more important items under the various departments, and gives the comparable figures for preceding years; further details for each department will be found in Part II of this Report.

<sup>3</sup> Included under the Department of Trade and Commerce; the amount was $3 million.

<sup>4</sup> Included under the Department of Labour; the amount was $0.2 million in 1940-41 and $0.1 million in 1939-40.

<sup>6</sup> Includes $3 million advances for drawback claims to millers; for similar advances in 1943-44 see the Department of Finance.

In interpreting the table it must be clearly understood that the annual totals are not strictly comparable, principally because the field covered by the expenditures varies from year to year. The most important reason for lack of comparability is that in 1942-43 and 1943-44 Canada's aid to Great Britain and other Allies took the form of direct appropriations and thus was included in war expenditure in the sense here used, whereas in earlier years, though very substantial assistance was indeed given, it took the form of the repatriation of securities and the accumulation of sterling balances in London (later converted into a long-term loan). There are other factors which warrant mention. The first is the acquisition of the fixed capital investment of the United Kingdom in munitions plants in Canada. This took place late in 1942-43, and the greater part of the payment ($200 million) was made in that year. Most of the investment was made by the United Kingdom in earlier fiscal years, so in reality the major portion of the repurchase price should be attributed to those years rather than to 1942-43 and 1943-44.

Another factor making for non-comparability of the totals from year to year is illustrated by the fact that the expenditures on air training in 1943-44 were only $233.9 million, compared with $366.9 million in 1942-43 (item 22 of Table IX). This apparent decrease merely reflects the apportionment of costs as between Canada and the United Kingdom; the gross expenditure falling upon Canada in the first instance in 1943-44 was $500.5 million, but there were certain adjustments due to sharing the expenditure with the United Kingdom in accordance with the responsibilities assumed by the two governments under the terms of the agreement. These adjustments relate in part to previous fiscal years, and their net effect is to deduct $266.6 million from the charge to the 1943-44 appropriation and treat it as a recoverable advance to the government of the United Kingdom. (This charge to the United Kingdom's account is partly offset by other credits under the terms of the agreement. For more complete details on the entire matter see Part II, page LL-11). More generally, the point involved is that the apportionment of expenditures between the two governments can not always be completed within each fiscal year, and thus net expenditures shown year by year are not strictly comparable.

Yet another factor of non-comparability appears in 1943-44. The introduction of the Mutual Aid principle has meant that the United Kingdom and certain others of the Allies have ceased to be direct contractors for the purchase of munitions in Canada (except for relatively few contracts continued on the previous basis for administrative or other reasons), being replaced by the Canadian Mutual Aid Board. The working capital formerly provided by these countries is now provided by the Department of Munitions and Supply, which explains a substantial part of the increase in working capital provided in 1943-44 (item 18 of Table IX); as in the case of the acquisition of the fixed capital investment of the United Kingdom in munition plants, a large portion of this added expenditure is really attributable to previous years. Of course the continued expansion of munitions production during the year is also responsible for a large part of this increase in working capital supplied by the Department of Munitions and Supply, but due to the very nature of working capital, which largely represents goods in process, it is not possible to make a satisfactory apportionment of the increase as between these factors.

Summing up this discussion of the interpretation of the yearly figures, and putting the whole matter more generally, it is probably sufficient to say that "war expenditure" as used here must not be confused with total war requirements during any fiscal year. The prosecution of the war requires many outlays besides those technically known as "expenditure"—outlays which will be recovered later, or which reduce previously existing liabilities—and it is the total of these outlays that must be considered when comparing the immediate financial burden in successive years.

In addition to the points brought out in the preceding paragraphs, perhaps the only item in Table IX calling for comment is item 20—the expenditures of the Air Force on its overseas war establishment. This amounted to $383.9 million in 1943-44, compared with only $23.7 million in the previous year, an increase of $360.2 million. Of this increase, $307.4 million is in squadron maintenance and $49.9 million is in pay and allowances. The former is largely explained by the very substantial increase in the number of squadrons which the Dominion has organized as R.C.A.F. squadrons and for which it has assumed financial responsibility, and the latter by the Dominion assuming responsibility for the pay of all R.C.A.F. personnel overseas.

Discussion of Canada's war expenditures would be incomplete however without reference to the Mutual Aid program. Out of the $1,000 million appropriated for this purpose in 1943-

44, $912.6 million was spent by March 31, 1944. Of this amount $723.8 million was for the United Kingdom, $21 million for Australia, $0.9 million for the British West Indies, and $0.5 million for India. Expenditures for Russia were $23.3 million, and for China $4.1 million despite the difficulties of transportation to that country. The remainder, except for a relatively small sum ($25,472.14) for administrative expenses, was spent for goods that were still in transit at March 31, and not finally allocated among the recipient nations. Table X gives some further details as to both the distribution among countries and the type of aid involved in each case.

F. ANALYSIS OF REVENUE.

(1) Comparison with Earlier Fiscal Years.

Revenue receipts in the fiscal year 1943-44 reached an unprecedented height. The intensified activity of the war production program, the accompanying sustained high level of employment and incomes, and the high rates of taxation imposed under the war budgets were the principal causes contributing to the attainment of a revenue total never before reached.

Revenue for the year, classified by major categories, is presented in Table XI, with corresponding figures for the five previous fiscal years and the aggregate of the six years of the war and rehabilitation period beginning April 1, 1914, and ending March 31, 1920.

<sup>3</sup> After deducting refundable taxes in 1942-43 and 1943-44, and after adjusting the years 1938-39 to 1942-43 to be comparable with 1943-44 in respect of adjustments in the Canadian National Railways Securities Trust Stock.

It will be observed that total revenue in the fiscal year 1943-44, after deducting taxes refundable after the war under the Income and Excess Profits Tax Acts, was over five times as large as the revenue of the pre-war fiscal year 1938-39 and was almost double the revenue of the whole of the period encompassed by the fiscal years 1914-15 to 1919-20 inclusive.

It is also a noteworthy feature of this comparison that tax revenues continue to show an increasing emphasis on direct taxation and a decreasing proportion from indirect taxation. The significance of this tendency will be more fully discussed in later paragraphs.

(2) Detailed Statement of Revenue, 1943-44.

In Table XII revenue receipts of the year are compared in detail with those of the five previous fiscal years. Because it is desired to itemize the sources of revenue in considerable detail, the figures given in this table are to the nearest thousand dollars.

(3) Direct Taxes on Incomes.

During the war period primary emphasis has been placed on the direct taxation of incomes, both personal and corporate. Taxation of personal incomes is recognized as being the most equitable type of taxation, as it takes into account the ability to pay as indicated by the amount of income and the family responsibilities of the taxpayer. The wartime fiscal program has also placed strong emphasis on taxation of corporate incomes, both through the excess profits tax and the normal corporation income tax, in order to assure that no abnormal or unreasonable profits should be derived from production for the war effort.

In the fiscal year 1943-44, revenue from direct taxes represented about two-thirds of the total tax revenue, as compared with about one-third in the last pre-war year. In amount, such revenue had increased to a figure over ten times as large as that of the fiscal year 1938-39.

(a) Taxes on Personal Incomes.

Revenue from the income tax on personal incomes, now the largest single source of tax revenue, amounted to $698.4 million, after deducting the refundable savings portion. This yield was 44 per cent in excess of the corresponding revenue of the previous fiscal year, an increase which was the result of the rising level of national income under the stimulus of the war production program, and the payment of taxes at the high rates adopted under the 1942 budget. The adoption of the "pay as you go" plan of income tax collection and its application to 1943 taxes also resulted in some increase in revenue over the previous year. This increase arose from the collection of tax from the current high income level of 1943, the payment of the balance of 1942 liability in the same year the 1943 taxes were being paid and the higher proportion of tax liability withheld at the source under the new system of withholding.

At the present time it is estimated that the savings portion of personal income taxes levied against 1943 incomes and repayable to the taxpayer after the end of the war is in the neighbourhood of $110 million. It was estimated in the previous year that the corresponding amount in relation to 1942 incomes would be $50 million, which, on the basis of more complete information, has been increased by an additional amount of $5 million. These amounts taken together thus give an estimate of the total amount refundable on the Dominion's books at the end of the fiscal year 1943-44 of $165 million repayable after the war in respect of the 1942 and 1943 taxation years.

Throughout the fiscal year the Tax Agreements between the Dominion and provincial governments remained in effect. These Agreements, discussed on pages xxxiii and xxxiv of the Introduction to the 1942-43 Public Accounts, in very substantial degree made possible the raising of personal income tax rates to the levels imposed in the budget of June, 1942.

(b) Taxes on Interest, Dividends, Rents and Royalties.

Revenue shown under the headings "Tax on Interest and Dividends" and "Tax on Rents and Royalties" represents the yield of the special taxes imposed on certain incomes under Section 9B of the Income War Tax Act. The greater part of this revenue in the fiscal year 1943-44 was derived from the 15 per cent tax levied on dividends and interest paid to non-residents of Canada.

(c) Corporation Income Tax and Excess Profits Tax.

Throughout the war period corporation profits have been subject to the corporation income tax, which was a part of the pre-war tax system, and in addition to the excess profits tax, which was introduced after the outbreak of war. The rate of corporation income tax has been 18 per cent during the war years, compared with the immediate pre-war rate of 15 per cent.

The excess profits tax, which applies to individuals and partnerships in business as well as to corporations, has been revised upward by successive steps during the war period and the revenue of the year under review reflects the revisions introduced in 1942. The budget of June, 1942, not only increased the rate of excess profits tax (basically the increase was from a 75 per cent rate to a rate of 100 per cent) effective from July 1, 1942, but also provided for compulsory monthly instalment payments of both corporation income tax and excess profits tax to commence on the same date. Thus throughout the entire fiscal year 1943-44 corporations paid their taxes on a monthly payment schedule rather than in one sum as was generally the case in previous years. Revenue from the corporation tax proper declined somewhat from 1942-43 however, because of the overlapping that had occurred in that year with the introduction of the monthly payment plan.

In summary, the rates of tax which have applied to corporation incomes since July 1, 1942, have been as follows:

- (1) Under the corporation income tax, 18 per cent of total profits; and
- (2) Under the excess profits tax, 12 per cent of total profits, plus the greater of (a) a further 10 per cent of total profits or (b) 100 per cent of excess profits.

The net effect of these provisions in their practical application is that every corporation which has earned profits not exceeding an amount equal to  $116\frac{2}{3}$  per cent of its standard profits (basically, average profits of the years 1936 to 1939 inclusive) pays a tax rate of 40 per cent on such profits, while every corporation which has had profits exceeding  $116\frac{2}{3}$  per cent of its standard profits pays a rate of 30 per cent on an amount of profits equal to its standard profit and 100 per cent of profits in excess of standard profit. Stated in other terms, no corporation is allowed to retain more than 70 per cent of its pre-war standard profit before tax.

Where the 100 per cent rate is effective, however, a post-war tax refund will be given equal to 20 per cent of the amount by which current profits exceed  $116\frac{2}{3}$  per cent of standard profits. In respect of the fiscal year 1943-44 it is estimated that an amount of \$40 million of excess profits tax collections will be refundable after the war.

(4) Succession Duties.

In 1941 the Dominion Government entered the field of succession duties for the first time. The rates under the Dominion Act were formulated in the light of the existing provincial rates and taken in combination with the latter result in a total tax of about the same general severity as the British death duties.

Revenue from this source had not reached by the end of the fiscal year 1943-44 the amount which had been anticipated. It is thought, however, that the amortization of payments over a number of years has resulted in lower initial revenues than expected, and that over a period of years there will be a gradually increasing revenue from this source.

(5) Indirect Taxes.

(a) Customs Duties.

Revenue from Customs duties for the fiscal year 1943-44 was $167.9 million, which compares with receipts of $119.0 million from this source during the preceding fiscal year, an increase of $48.9 million or 41 per cent.

Prior to April 1, 1943, importations into Canada or purchases in Canada by or on behalf of allied governments were granted exemption from customs duty and as well from sales tax, excise taxes and any other taxes that would normally have applied, although purchases by the Canadian Government for its own account were subject in full to all applicable taxes. With the adoption of the Mutual Aid Program, the Canadian Government became the purchaser of a substantial amount of the munitions and other war supplies procured in Canada for the use of other governments. During the fiscal year 1943-44, therefore, only those supplies which were purchased for cash in Canada by allied governments were eligible for tax exemption and this exemption was granted by a refund of duties or taxes included in the purchase price. The effect of this change in procedure was to bring within the scope of taxation a substantial volume of war supplies previously exempt from tax, which was the principal factor explaining the extent to which revenues from customs duties during the year were substantially higher than revenues of the preceding year. It should be pointed out that when the books of the fiscal year 1943-44 were closed there were outstanding substantial arrears of refunds to Allied Governments in respect of duties and taxes included in the price of munitions for which they had paid in cash. Since the amount of such arrears of refunds had not been determined at the end of the 1943-44 fiscal period it was not possible to take them into the accounts of that year. However, it is anticipated that during the course of the 1944-45 fiscal period refunds of these taxes and duties will be completed and will be dealt with in the public accounts for that year.

(b) Excise Duties.

Excise duties are levied exclusively on alcoholic beverages and tobacco products. Revenue from this source in the fiscal year 1943-44 amounted to $142.1 million, some $3.4 million in excess of the previous year, which increase arose almost entirely from higher consumption of cigarettes and tobacco, particularly cigarettes, in respect of which the increase was some 5 per cent over the peak figure of the previous year. The extent of the smokers' contribution to the Federal Treasury is indicated by the fact that revenue from tobacco products, taking account of the additional taxes imposed under the Special War Revenue Act on tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and on cigarette papers and tubes, amounted in the fiscal year 1943-44 to $140.8 million, or a sum equal to almost one-third of the total tax revenue of the government in the last pre-war year, 1938-39.

Revenue from alcoholic beverages would have shown some decline from the previous year because of the restrictions on consumption had it not been for the fact that the increased rates of tax imposed in the budget of June 23, 1942, were in effect during the whole of the fiscal year 1943-44 but for only about nine months in the fiscal year 1942-43.

(c) Excise Taxes.

The term "excise taxes" refers in general to the group of some fifty or more taxes imposed under the Special War Revenue Act. Many of the taxes in effect in the year under review were levied prior to the war, although for the most part at lower rates. On the other hand several new taxes have been introduced, designed principally to discourage spending either as a part of the anti-inflation program or to conserve materials and services in short supply. Revenue under this heading in the fiscal year 1943-44 amounted, after deducting refunds, to $638.6 million, or $149.9 million in excess of that for the previous year. Of this increase the larger part is attributable to the sales tax and the war exchange tax, which both produced revenues larger than those of the previous year, in considerable part because of the change in tax procedure resulting from the Mutual Aid Program which has already been discussed above in the section on Customs Duties. It is now estimated that these two taxes contributed almost $96.3 million to the increase in total revenue.

The balance of the increase over the previous year arose from the variety of taxes on goods and services of domestic consumption, in the case of many of which the rates either were increased in the Budget of March 2, 1943, or were increased in the Budget of June 23, 1942, and were effective during the full twelve months of the fiscal year 1943-44, as contrasted with about nine months of the previous fiscal year. These taxes as a group yielded $214.8 million, exceeding the revenue of the previous year by $53.6 million. The major increases arose under the following headings (the amount shown is the increase in 1943-44 over 1942-43):—

1. Cigars, cigarettes and tobacco.....	$28,393,000
2. Transportation and communication.....	6,296,000
3. Beverages (soft drinks) .....	4,940,000
4. Candy and chewing gum.....	4,418,000
5. Stamps, etc., including payment of taxes on jewellery, chinaware, cabaret attendance, etc. ....	4,148,000
6. Tires and tubes.....	4,009,000
7. Purses, bags, trunks, etc.....	1,983,000
8. Amusements and pari-mutuel bets.....	1,637,000

On the other hand, the yield of excise taxes on certain commodities suffered some reduction due to curtailment of production or to rationing of domestic consumption. These sources of revenue, and the amounts by which the yields decreased as compared with receipts during the preceding fiscal year, were as follows:—

1. Electric and gas appliances .....	$2,004,000
2. Sugar .....	1,903,000
3. Phonographs, radios and tubes.....	700,000
4. Wines .....	297,000

(6) Other Taxes.

The tax on the note circulation of the chartered banks is relatively unimportant and is declining from year to year with the reduction in the outstanding amount of chartered bank notes. The tax on insurance companies is based on net premium income. Revenue from this source declined from that shown in the previous fiscal year due to arrangements made under the Dominion-Provincial Tax Agreements which had the effect of bringing collections for two years into revenue of the fiscal year 1942-43.

(7) Non-tax Revenue.

(a) General.

In addition to receipts from taxes, there are other revenues which are included in Ordinary Revenue in the Dominion's accounts. These non-tax revenues totalled $133.3 million in 1943-44 as compared with $116.1 million in the previous year and with $61.8 million in the immediate pre-war year.

The two main revenue producers in this category are the Post Office and the Dominion's portfolio of investments. With the one cent increase in letter rates effective April 1, 1943, and expanding business activity and incomes, post office receipts have risen from $35.3 million in the last pre-war year to $61.1 million in the year under review, although as will be evident from the details given in Part II of this Report, post office expenditures have also shown a steady increase. Return on investments, that is to say, interest, dividends and profits received in respect of loans, advances, securities and other investments included amongst the Dominion's assets, increased from $14.5 million in 1938-39 and $41.2 million in 1942-43 to $48.3 million in 1943-44. Details in regard to these and other items of Non-tax Revenue will be found under the appropriate departments in Part II.

(b) Bullion and Coinage—Royal Canadian Mint.

In Table XII the revenue from bullion and coinage is shown as $8.732 million for 1943-44. This represents the revenue receipts, as shown by the Dominion's books, derived from the bullion and coinage operations of the Royal Canadian Mint and of the Dominion Assay Office, a branch of the Mint maintained at Vancouver for the receipt and assaying of deposits of gold produced in the Western provinces, Yukon and the Northwest Territories. (For a detailed explanation of the operations of the Royal Canadian Mint, from the accounting point of view, see the Public Accounts for 1942-43, pages xxxvii-xxxix).

Details of these receipts will be found in the Department of Finance section of Part II of this Report and may be summarized as follows:—

Coinage operations

Net gain in silver bullion and coinage operations.....	$5.450 million
Net gain in bronze and tombac coinage operations.....	1.845 "
Net gain in steel coinage operations.....	0.067 "

Refining and handling gold

Gain on stocktaking .....	0.040 "
Gain in operations at Dominion Assay Office.....	0.005 "
Charges for assaying, melting and refining gold.....	0.134 "
Mint handling charges (net) .....	1.191 "

Total .....	$8.732 "
--------------------	------------------

Statements of the operations of the Royal Canadian Mint in respect of coinage and gold bullion accounts are included as appendices in Part I of this report; Appendix No. 10, a statement of coin withdrawn from circulation for recoinage, the amount recoinced and the loss or gain on recoinage; Appendix No. 11, a statement of coinage issued during the year with the accumulated total up to March 31, 1944; and Appendix No. 12, a statement of transactions in the various coinage accounts and in the gold bullion account.

(8) Capital Refunds; Special Receipts and Credits.

Refunds of previous years' capital expenditures which were of very minor amount are given on page 11, Part I. Special Receipts and Credits for the year, as shown on page 13 of Part I and more fully dealt with under the departments in Part II of this Report, amounted to $194.9 million.

The main items making up this total are: Refunds of previous years' war expenditures, $44.2 million; miscellaneous war revenue, including profits on certain war operations, $48.5 million; sale of surplus war assets, $6.2 million; previous years' war expenditures in Crown plants transferred to active assets, $53.4 million; reduction in the Reserve Account of the Canadian Wheat Board, $3.0 million; net credit due to increase in Canadian National Railways Securities Trust Stock, $37.8 million; and repayment by Canadian Pacific Railway of a loan made under Unemployment Relief Act, 1932, $1 million. The previous years' war expenditure on Crown plants transferred to active assets relates to a very few plants which, after careful examination, can now be said to have a definite post-war value; the entry here is to reverse the earlier charge to Consolidated Deficit Account (see also Part II, page K-4). The reduction in the Reserve Account of the Canadian Wheat Board represents an adjustment occasioned by a further improvement in the Board's balance sheet based on calculations made as at July 31, 1943, with respect to 1939 and 1940 crop accounts. The net credit due to the increase in Canadian National Railways Securities Trust Stock of $37.8 million is the sum of surplus earnings of the system for 1943, $35.6 million and the capital gain on repatriation of Canadian National Railways securities, $2.4 million, less the decrease due to capital loss on line abandonments, $0.2 million. As the Securities Trust Stock is carried in the Dominion books as a non-active asset, the improvement in the account does not affect the net debt position of Canada, and accordingly the net credit of $37.8 million is offset by a contra amount appearing on the expenditure side under the heading "Other Charges".

G. PERCENTAGE DISTRIBUTION OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE, 1943-44.

The following table, Table XIII, shows the percentage distribution of revenue and expenditure for a number of important items. Receipts from various taxes and other sources are shown as percentages both of total revenue and of total expenditure. Similarly, several of the main items of expenditure or groups of such items are shown as percentages both of total expenditure and of total revenue.

The purpose of this table is to enable broad conclusions to be drawn as to the relative burdens imposed on the public treasury by the war and the several important services or obligations of government. For example, a glance at the table will show that expenditures charged directly to war accounted for more than 86 per cent of all expenditures and amounted to about one and two-third times total revenue. Also, all ordinary expenditure accounted for 11.8 per cent of total expenditure and absorbed almost 23 per cent of total revenue. Receipts from the income tax on persons and corporations took care of 19.5 per cent of total expenditure, while expenditures of the Air Force and the Navy absorbed over 24.4 per cent of total revenue.

H. TOTAL REQUIREMENTS FOR AND SOURCES OF CASH*(1) Introduction and Summary.

The preceding sections have described the balance sheet and the changes in it from year to year, the net debt, expenditure, and revenue. It is now proposed to describe the effect of the transactions there summarized from the point of view of cash requirements. As explained more fully in the Introduction to the Public Accounts for 1942-43, the Dominion's requirements for cash include some, but not all, "expenditures" in the technical accounting sense, and in addition certain outlays that result in the acquisition of active assets or the reduction of liabilities. Similarly, cash receipts include some, but not all, "revenues" in the same strict sense, and certain other receipts as well. Consequently what may be called the cash deficiency (the difference between cash requirements and cash receipts, excluding borrowing) is quite distinct from the deficit; it represents the net amount of financing required in the present, whereas the deficit represents the net increase in liabilities or decreases in assets from a long-range viewpoint.

Total cash requirements were $5,857.1 million in 1943-44. Revenue received in cash was $2,673.4 million (excluding the refundable portion of taxes, which is included with borrowing), and other receipts were $118 million. Hence the cash deficiency was $3,065.6 million. This deficiency was met by domestic borrowing, which yielded net proceeds of $3,051.3 million, and by a decrease in cash balances amounting to $14.3 million. Table XIV shows the details, with comparative figures for the four previous fiscal years.

NOTES TO TABLE XIV

<sup>1</sup>Transactions classed as non-cash consist of adjustments of the valuation of assets and liabilities and the annual amortization of loan flotation charges. Certain contra accounts have also been omitted.

<sup>3</sup>In 1939-40 outlays and receipts in foreign currency were charged or credited at par of exchange, any difference being absorbed by Premium, Discount, and Exchange Account. Since then these transactions have been converted at the current rate of exchange. But see also footnotes 10, 11, 16, and 17.

<sup>4</sup>"War requirements" are expenditures charged to the war appropriations, and such other accounts as obviously relate to the war; "non-war requirements" are all other requirements.

<sup>6</sup>Excludes the amortization of bond discounts and commissions: $10.7 million in 1943-44, $8.6 million in 1942-43, $11 million in 1941-42, $5.2 million in 1940-41, and $4.8 million in 1939-40.

<sup>7</sup>Excludes the reserve provisions for the deficits of the Canadian Wheat Board in 1941-42 and 1940-41, $12.6 million and $10.5 million respectively.

<sup>10</sup>Computed by adding the 10% exchange premium to the change as shown on the balance sheet (where foreign currency is converted at par, the difference being absorbed by Premium, Discount and Exchange Account). Excludes U.S. funds held for special purposes.

<sup>11</sup>Including both funded and floating debt, and the 10% exchange premium on U.S. funds. In netting out the proceeds of the refunding issues in 1942-43 the price of the securities to the public has been used, although the amount actually received by the government was less than this by the amount of the underwriters' commissions; these commissions (plus the 10% exchange premiums on U. S. funds) are included at Item 11 in the table.

<sup>13</sup>Excludes the reserve provision of $12.6 million for contingent liabilities of Crown companies.

<sup>16</sup>Computed at $4.47 to the pound sterling; on the balance sheet foreign currency is converted at par, the differences being absorbed by Premium, Discount, and Exchange Account. Does not include sterling accumulated between 1939 and 1942 to provide the United Kingdom with Canadian dollar exchange; see pages XLVIII and XLIX.

<sup>17</sup>Including both funded and floating debt, the former being adjusted for sinking funds and for certain sinking fund holdings temporarily transferred to Securities Investment Account in order to liquidate them (where the sinking fund of a maturing or called issue held bonds of other issues). Excludes the premium paid (in sterling) in excess of the face value, charged to the war appropriations—see item 7 of Table IX, page XXVIII. The pound sterling was converted at $1.45 in these debt retirement transactions.

<sup>18</sup>The revolving funds were closed out at the end of 1943-44, but not at the end of 1942-43. The net effect was to defer outlays from 1942-43 to 1943-44.

<sup>19</sup>During 1943-44 certain items of plant and equipment, charged to the war appropriations as expenditure during previous years, were reclassified as active assets. The resultant increase in assets is included in the preceding items in the 1943-44 column, and this item makes the appropriate deduction. Alternatively, war expenditures could have been revised downward and outlay on active assets revised upward in the earlier years concerned, but that treatment would have been difficult to reconcile with the Public Accounts for the years concerned and would not have altered the cash requirements.

<sup>20</sup>Net after the deduction of commissions and sundry remuneration amounting to $11.9 million in 1943-44, $10.3 million in 1942-43, $9.5 million in 1941-42, $7.7 million in 1940-41, and $7.5 million in 1939-40.

<sup>21</sup>Including a revision of Premium, Discount, and Exchange revenue resulting from the valuation of gold, foreign currency, and debt payable in foreign currency at current exchange rates instead of at par. The revised revenue from Premium Discount, and Exchange is $4.9 million in 1943-44, $2 million in 1942-43, $1.6 million in 1941-42, $1 million in 1940-41, and $2 million in 1939-40. See also Table XVIII page LI.

<sup>22</sup>Excluding the following non-cash credits: the reduction of the reserve for losses of the Canadian Wheat Board; the adjustments of the Canadian National Railways Securities Trust Stock; the write-up of assets for the revaluation of war plants in 1943-44; the balance of the award in the I'm Alone case, held by the Receiver General for several years and transferred to revenue in 1943-44; the write-off of Dominion "A" stock in 1940-41; and the write-off of non-active assets. The principal components are receipts related to the War Appropriations (refunds etc.), and war donations, amounting respectively to $98.9 million and $0.2 million in 1943-44, $18.7 million and $0.3 million in 1942-43, $16.4 million and $0.5 million in 1941-42, and $1.5 and $1.4 million in 1940-41.

<sup>28</sup>The cash deficiency is defined as the excess of cash requirements over sources other than borrowing, and therefore it must equal net borrowing plus the decrease (or minus the increase) in cash balances.

Incidentally it will be noted that the 1942-43 figures have been revised in Table XIV, compared with those shown in the similar table given on pages xlii and xliii of the Public Accounts for 1942-43. The revision is largely the result of the change in viewpoint due to the extension of the period under consideration to five years instead of one, but it is due also in some degree to the desirability of relating the figures directly to the revised form of the balance sheet; these factors affect decisions as to whether or not certain items should be netted out. This in turn brings up the point that some receipts (as the repayment of certain loans) are netted against other payments, and some outlays (as the return of funds deposited with the Receiver General) are netted against other receipts. There is necessarily some arbitrariness in deciding what items to net out, unless one were to go to such extremes as, for example, to show every deposit in the Post Office Savings Bank as a source of funds and every withdrawal as a requirement for funds; it is much more meaningful, however, to describe the transactions in terms of net changes in various categories of accounts. The principal items netted out are shown clearly in the above table and the subsidiary tables that follow.

It should also be observed that even the question of defining cash transactions raises certain problems. For example, the interest payments to insurance, superannuation, and trust funds and the Government's contribution to the superannuation and the unemployment insurance funds have been treated as cash expenditure, on the one hand, and as cash receipts, on the other, even though they remain on deposit with the Receiver General; for they are held for the benefit of others and not for the Government itself. The transactions treated as non-cash are adjustments of the valuation of assets and liabilities, and the annual amortization of loan flotation charges, as noted in the comments which follow. Certain contra accounts have also been omitted.

(2) Analysis of Cash Requirements.

Table XIV separates requirements into "war" and "non-war". The former category is composed of charges to the war appropriations and such other accounts as are obviously related to the war; the latter includes all other requirements. As noted in the discussion of expenditure, this division is not a precise one, but it is comparatively easily made and is very useful provided its limitations are kept in mind. War requirements amounted to $5,048.4 million in the year under review, and non-war requirements amounted to $808.7 million.

(a) Non-War Cash Requirements.

The first items of non-war cash requirements shown in Table XIV are the expenditure items, totalling $661.1 million in 1943-44. The non-cash expenditures excluded are the amortization of bond discounts and commissions, $10.7 million, the write-down of active and non-active assets, $25.6 million, and the entries adjusting the value of the Canadian National Railways Securities Trust Stock, which have already been described at some length, $37.8 million. The corresponding items in previous years will be found in the table and its footnotes, except the items omitted from Other Charges (item 8), which will be found at items 13 and 14 of Table VIII, page xxvii.

Secondly, active loans, advances, investments, etc. totalling $119.1 million were made during the year. The details are given in Table XV, which also shows the comparable amounts for the previous four years. Aside from the increase of $150.4 million in Securities Investment Account (which among other things temporarily holds Victory Bonds in process of purchase under the instalment plans) and the increase of $1.3 million in sundry departmental working balances, all the entries show net repayments of advances made in previous years. The accounts with the Canadian National Railways have already been described in detail (see pages xviii and xix) and the other items are self-explanatory.

See also footnote 6 to Table XVI, page XLVII.<sup>5</sup> Excluding stock written off.<sup>6</sup> Excluding the Royal Canadian Mint Gold Purchase Account. The changes in this account reflect changes in the Dominion's holdings of gold, and are included in item 12 of Table XIV.<sup>7</sup> Excluding loans written off.<sup>8</sup> Adjusted to eliminate temporary holdings of sterling securities in connection with the liquidation of sinking funds, as these changes are included in item 25 of Table XIV.<sup>9</sup> Less than $50,000.<sup>10</sup> Comprising the changes in the following items, as shown in the revised balance sheets and schedules on pages 49 to 60 of Part I of this report: balance sheet, item 4(b); Central Mortgage Bank; Schedule D, items 1 and 3; Schedule G, items 5 to 8 and 10 to 12; and Second and Third Victory Loan Subscription Suspense Accounts (part of Schedule J, which is not shown on pages 49 to 60 because the information was given in substantially the same form in previous years).

The third type of non-war cash requirement is the cash outlay for loan flotations to be amortized over the life of the issues, as distinct from that charged directly to annual expenditure when incurred. It comprises chiefly discounts, conversion premiums, redemption bonuses, and agents' commissions; the amount was $17.4 million in 1943-44.

Fourthly, there is the Canadian dollar purchase price of the increase in holdings of gold and U.S. dollars (a negative item of $115.6 million in 1943-44, which means that balances built up in previous years were used for certain requirements in the United States, notably debt retirement), and, finally, the cost in Canadian dollars of the funds used to reduce New York indebtedness. Securities totalling $106 million (U.S.) were called, and floating debt was reduced by $9.3 million (U.S.); this is equivalent to $126.8 million in Canadian funds.

(b) War Requirements.

As with non-war requirements, so with war requirements the principal factor is expenditure in the strict sense. Cash expenditure from the war appropriations amount to $4,574.4 million in 1943-44; the only non-cash item deducted is the charge of $12.6 million arising out of setting up a reserve for certain contingent liabilities of various Crown companies—specifically, for the adjustment of prices used in interim billings.

Table XVI analyzes the net advances made on war account during the year and, as with most of the tables in this Introduction, gives comparable figures for the four preceding years. Advances to other governments amounted to $190.2 million net, of which the most important items were net recoverable expenses of $205.4 million in connection with the Air Training Plans (including substantial adjustments relating to previous years, as explained on page xxx) and repayments of $42.4 million against the $700 million loan to the United Kingdom under The War Appropriation (United Kingdom Financing) Act, 1942. (These repayments represent the proceeds of maturing Canadian issues and the sale of Canadian securities by residents of the United Kingdom to non-residents, and are called for by the terms of the loan.) Net advances of $310.8 million were made to various Crown agencies—$185 million to the Foreign Exchange Control Board, $51.3 million to commodity and other companies under the jurisdiction of the Department of Munitions and Supply, $57 million in respect of privately managed Crown plants under the same department, and the remainder to various Crown companies. Other transactions were net advances of $21 million to the Canadian National Railways, more fully described on pages xviii and xix, and a net repayment of $4 million by certain private contractors.

The Canadian dollar purchase price of the increase in holdings of sterling funds is included as a war requirement because practically all expenditure in sterling relates to the activities of our armed forces overseas. During 1943-44 sterling holdings decreased by an amount equivalent to $21.9 million, which means that balances built up in previous years have been drawn upon and therefore the Canadian dollars for outlays of that amount were provided in those years. It may be worth observing, in this connection, that the changes in sterling balances during the preceding four years, as shown in item 24 of Table XIV, refer only to the working balances held by the Dominion Government itself; they do not include the accumulation of sterling between 1939 and 1942 (later reversed by conversion to a $700 million interest-free loan, by the repatriation of further sterling securities, and by other means) undertaken as one of the methods of providing the United Kingdom with Canadian dollar exchange. The balances accumulated for this purpose were held by the Foreign Exchange Control Board.

There are two adjustments to be made to the items so far listed. The first relates to the revolving funds and the second to the reclassification during 1943-44 of certain war expenditures in previous years. The revolving funds are working capital credits administered by the Department of Munitions and Supply; they were opened in 1942-43 and were not closed out at the end of that year, but were closed out at the end of 1943-44 (and re-opened in 1944-45 out of the new year's war appropriation), the net effect being that outlays of $30.8 million listed in 1942-43 were in fact deferred until 1943-44. The reclassification of war expenditures concerns prior years' expenditure on fixed capital in certain war plants which after careful review can now be said to have definite post-war value and accordingly have been transferred to active assets. This matter was referred to on page xxxviii in discussing non-tax revenue. The amount involved is $53.4 million—$14.1 million for Polymer Corporation, Ltd., $9.1 million for Alberta Nitrogen Co., Ltd., $9.5 million for Canada Strip Mill, Ltd., $1.3 million for Nicholls Chemical Co., Ltd., and $19.5 million for Welland Chemical Works, Ltd. (Further details will be found in Part II, page K-4). These amounts are included, along with the additional advances during 1943-44, in the advances to Crown companies and commodity companies shown at items 11 and 13 of Table XVI, and thus are included in item 23 of Table XIV, so it is necessary to deduct the total here as an adjustment. Alternatively, war expenditure could have been reduced and outlay on assets increased by the appropriate amounts in the preceding years, but the treatment here adopted has the same net effect with less chance of confusion in comparison with the details given in the Public Accounts for this and earlier years.

(c) Adjustment of total requirements for and sources of cash to take account of certain C.N.R. and F.E.C.B. transactions.

There are two adjustments that can be made in the figures just given, in order to give a more complete and meaningful account of the Government's financial relations with the public. They relate to the Canadian National Railways and the Foreign Exchange Control Board, and involve the consolidation of the positions of the Dominion, the Railway, and the Board, as if they were parent and subsidiary companies (which they resemble in many ways). With respect to the C.N.R., the point involved is that certain of the advances made to it by the government have been for the purpose of retiring securities held by the Canadian public; these advances may reasonably be considered as having involved increased borrowing by the Dominion, so the net effect has been merely to replace the C.N.R. securities with direct Dominion obligations. Consolidation of the positions of the Dominion and the Railway would thus reduce the net Dominion requirements by the amount of the advances in question—$17.9 million in 1943-44.

In the case of the F.E.C.B. the adjustment is primarily a matter of timing as between fiscal years; the year under review is not affected, and the situation with respect to 1942-43 was explained in some detail in the Introduction to the Public Accounts for that year, but it is desirable to explain it briefly once more in order to complete the record for the past five fiscal years as in most of the preceding tables. The significant thing is that in 1940-41 and 1941-42 the advances made by the Government to the Board, together with the Board's other sources of funds, were not sufficient to cover all the latter's requirements, the balance being made up by selling exchange to the Bank of Canada under agreement to repurchase. These arrangements were reversed in 1942-43 when the exchange reserves were repurchased from the Bank, largely due to clearing off the large sterling balances previously accumulated in order to provide the United Kingdom with Canadian dollar exchange. Consolidating the positions of the Dominion and the Board, the net effect is that requirements for Canadian dollar financing were increased by $69 million in 1940-41 and by $206.9 million in 1941-42, due largely to the accumulation of sterling balances (though of course the total sterling accumulated was much more than this), and reduced by $275.9 million in 1942-43, due to using up the sterling previously acquired.

Corresponding adjustments are, of course, involved in the total sources of cash. In the consolidation of positions the C.N.R. securities retired become analogous to Dominion maturities paid off in cash, and the F.E.C.B.'s sales and repurchases of exchange to and from the Bank of Canada produce the same effect as borrowings and repayments. The whole matter is summarized in Table XVII, which follows.

(3) Analysis of Sources of Cash.

(a) Revenue Received in Cash.

The revenue items in Table XIV total $2,673.4 for 1943-44, or $91.6 million less than the total revenue shown in Table XII. This is explained by two factors, the first of which is the omission of non-cash credits amounting to $94.3 million, as follows: reduction in the reserve account for deficits of the Canadian Wheat Board, $3 million; the credit of $37.8 million recording the increase of the Dominion's equity in the Canadian National Railways; the credit of $53.4 million to Consolidated Deficit Account reversing the charges in respect of certain war plants, as already described; and some relatively small items, including the write-off of non-active assets and the balance of the award in the I'm Alone case, held by the Receiver General for several years and now transferred to revenue.

The second factor is an adjustment of Premium, Discount, and Exchange Revenue arising out of the fact that foreign exchange and debt payable in foreign currency have been valued at current exchange rates for all purposes, whereas they are converted at par of exchange on the Dominion's balance sheet. Adjusting the other accounts concerned as in Table XIV shows a net cash revenue from Premium, Discount and Exchange in 1943-44 greater by $2.7 million than that given in Table XII; the difference is explained in Table XVIII, which reconciles the Premium, Discount, and Exchange Revenue as included in Table XII with that in Table XIV, with comparable figures for the four previous fiscal years.

(c) Borrowed Funds and Borrowing Operations.

(i) Operations in Foreign Markets.

The Dominion did not borrow in foreign markets in the year under review, and in fact reduced its indebtedness in both London and New York. In the former market the Dominion's outstanding obligations, already reduced to relatively small proportions at the beginning of the fiscal year, were still further reduced by continued repatriation. In New York, the $30 million 2½ per cent loan of 1937 and the $76 million 2½ per cent loan of 1935 were called for redemption in August 1943 and paid off in cash. The cash effects of these transactions are noted at items 13 and 25 of Table XIV where the amounts have been converted at the current rates of exchange in order to show the net requirements of Canadian funds for these debt reductions. Their effects can also be seen in the comparative balance sheet and Schedule T thereto, at pages 3 and 27 respectively of Part I, where they are shown at par of exchange.

(ii) Borrowing Within Canada.

The repayments of foreign debt referred to in the preceding paragraph constitute a requirement for cash and they have been so treated in Table XIV. To deduct these figures from the net proceeds of borrowing within Canada in order to show an over-all figure for net borrowing would understate the Dominion's cash requirements during the year and would obscure the real total of funds provided by Canadian investors. It was borrowing within Canada that was significant in meeting the cash deficiency in 1943-44, and indeed in every fiscal year of this war. These operations are summarized at items 49 to 56 of Table XIV.

The details of new issues of funded debt (that is, excluding renewals and the conversion of maturing issues) are given in Table XXI. This table also gives the comparable figures for the four previous fiscal years, and a column showing the total for the five years has been added. This total is in many ways more significant than the annual transactions, as the figures for individual fiscal years may be distorted by incidental factors like the timing of loan campaigns (for example, during 1942-43 cash requirements increased very rapidly, and there was a Victory Loan campaign just before the beginning and another just after the end of the fiscal year, with the result that bank borrowing was particularly high in that year).

<sup>8</sup> Including the addition of accrued interest.

<sup>9</sup> Issues after September 1, 1939—i.e. all issues except item 9.

As the table shows, the total of outstanding Treasury Bills increased by $60 million during the year, to $360 million. The net effective rate of interest on these Bills declined still further during the year, and stood at the near-record low level of 0·387 per cent on the last issue of the year. The corresponding rates of the last five fiscal years are as follows:

	Per cent
1939-40 .....	0·747
1940-41 .....	0·609
1941-42 .....	0·552
1942-43 .....	0·498
1943-44 .....	0·387

It is not possible to classify the purchasers of Treasury Bills, but other new issues have been so classified in Table XXI.

A net amount of $170 million was borrowed from the chartered banks during 1943-44 but nothing from the Bank of Canada.

The general public bought no less than $2,732·1 million of new issues—$2,683·7 million of Victory Bonds and $48·4 million (net after redemptions, but including accrued interest) of War Savings Certificates and Stamps and Non-Interest-Bearing Certificates. This is 92·2 per cent of the total borrowings for the year, which were $2,962·1 million. The Fourth and the Fifth Victory Loans were each in turn the largest borrowing operation in the history of the Dominion—the Fourth yielded $1,308·7 million from 2,668,420 subscriptions and the Fifth $1,375 million in cash from a total of 3,033,051 subscriptions. The National War Finance Committee has prepared an estimate of the derivation of the subscriptions to these loans at the time of issue. It is given in Table XXII, together with revised data for the first three Victory Loans. Unfortunately similar information is not available for the First or the Second War Loans.

<sup>3</sup> Individuals believed capable of buying $25,000 or more par value of bonds at the time of issue.

Reviewing the borrowing operations from September 1, 1939 to March 31, 1944—the war period to date—the general public has provided $5,993.6 million out of a total of $8,080.6 million “new money” raised (that is, excluding the conversion or renewal of previous issues), or 74.2 per cent. Excluding Treasury Bill purchases, the Bank of Canada has provided only $442.8 million or 5.5 per cent, and the chartered banks $1,439.2 million or 17.8 per cent; Treasury Bills accounted for the remaining 2.5 per cent.

Out of these borrowings certain maturing issues, or that portion of them not converted into new loans, have had to be paid off in cash. The amount was $59.7 million in 1943-44, as shown in Table XXIV which also gives the corresponding figures for the four previous years.

There is another type of borrowing which is included with funded debt in the revised presentation of the balance sheet, and that is the compulsory savings portion of the personal income tax and the excess profits tax. Certificates are issued to each person contributing in this way, and these are binding obligations of the government repayable within a stipulated time limit after the end of hostilities. Due to the tremendous number of individual forms to be checked, it has not yet proved possible to compute exact totals of the amounts involved, but in 1943-44 a further $155 million has been added to the $70 million set up in 1942-43 as the estimated liability. The current year's figure is made up as follows: estimated savings portion of personal income taxes on 1943 incomes, $110 million; estimated additional amount on 1942 incomes, $5 million; and estimated savings portion of excess profits taxes for 1943-44, $40 million. This makes the totals to date $165 million for personal incomes and $60 million for excess profits; out of this amount $18,958.98 has been returned to persons entitled to claim return of their savings under the statute—cases where the savings have been returned to the estate of a deceased certificate holder, for example.

The items so far enumerated make up the total cash receipts from the increase in funded debt during the year. There is one other item under the heading of borrowing, however,—the net change in domestic floating debt, which was a decrease of $6 million in 1943-44. Floating debt is composed mainly of outstanding cheques, though important amounts of matured funded debt and interest due and unpaid are included, and also outstanding warrants and other obligations payable on demand. The account known as Post Office Account is also included, because it consists largely of outstanding postal notes, money orders, etc. In short, floating debt represents sums payable on demand which in the normal course of events will be presented for payment with reasonable promptness. An increase in floating debt is therefore analogous to short term borrowing—it might be called involuntary borrowing—and a decrease is analogous to a debt repayment. The changes for the past five fiscal years are shown at item 57 of Table XIV.

To conclude this section on domestic borrowing, three additional tables are presented. The first is Table XXIII, which is a list of borrowing operations undertaken between April 1, 1939, and March 31, 1944, giving details as to maturities, rates, issue prices, yields, and so on. This table differs from Table XXI on page LIV particularly in that it includes conversion and renewal issues as well as “new money” issues, and in that it shows all issues at their face value, whereas Table XXI showed only the amount received in cash from the subscribers.

The second is Table XXIV, which is a list of the redemptions, both in cash and by conversion, for the same period. The “cash redemptions” column gives at items 6, 10, 16, 21, and 27 the amounts used in item 54 of Table XIV.

* The banks have participated in some degree in some of these issues, but this has been confined almost entirely to conversions into short-term tranches. It is estimated that cash subscriptions by banks to War and Victory Loans were less than $30 million; see also Table XXII, page LVI. But note also items 19 and 20 and footnote 7.

* There is no information as to subscriptions by the banks to this issue.

* The redemption of 20 per cent of the loan on February 1, 1951 will be at 100·50, and the 20 per cent on February 1, 1952 will be at 101·7.

* Redeemable at 101 at maturity.

* War Savings Certificates are issued on a discount basis, and yield 3 per cent to the purchaser if held to maturity, seven and a half years after issue.

* Including addition of accrued interest.

* Issues after September 1, 1939—i.e. all issues except items 19 and 20.

Finally, some comments on interest rates may be added. The table which follows—Table XXV—shows the average coupon interest rates on the funded debt of the Dominion for the years 1934-35 to 1943-44, as at the close of each year. This table shows two significant features—firstly, a steady decline in coupon rates throughout the period, and secondly, in the last four fiscal years, a decisive narrowing of the spread between the average rate on funded debt payable in domestic currency and that on total funded debt.

The first feature is epitomized by the fall of the average rate on total debt from 4·15 per cent as at March 31, 1935, to 2·55 per cent as at March 31, 1944—the domestic rate falling even more, from 4·23 per cent to 2·52 per cent. This fall is due only in part to more extensive use of short-term borrowings, for the last column shows that the effective rate on long-term issues (ten years or more) has also fallen sharply, if less than proportionally and also less regularly; the Fifth Victory Loan long-term bonds yielded 3.00 per cent, the lowest of the period, compared with 3.81 per cent yielded by the Refunding Loan of 1934 though these issues were for terms almost identical in length.

(d) Decrease in Cash Balances.

The Dominion's domestic cash balances fell by $14.3 million during the year, so to this extent 1943-44 cash requirements were financed out of money accumulated in previous years. Incidentally, some explanation is in order for the fact that in Schedule A on page 14 of Part I a negative balance is shown for current deposits of cash in Canada, both as at March 31, 1944 and as at March 31, 1943. In point of fact the Dominion's accounts were never overdrawn. Payments made out of 1943-44 appropriations during the thirty days following the close of the fiscal year (March 31, 1944), as provided by subsection 1 of section 32 of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, 1931, exceeded the balances on hand at the close of business on March 31, but April revenues and other receipts for the fiscal year 1944-45 were more than enough to cover the difference.

(e) The Cash Deficiency.

The cash deficiency—defined on page XLI as the excess of requirements over sources other than borrowing—was $3,065.6 million in 1943-44, compared with the deficit of $2,557.2 million. These figures are reconciled in Table XXVI, which also reconciles the corresponding figures in the preceding four fiscal years.

I. INDIRECT OR CONTINGENT LIABILITIES: GUARANTEED OBLIGATIONS

This review would not be complete without a discussion of the indirect liabilities of the Dominion and the changes therein during the year under review. A footnote to the Balance Sheet calls attention to these indirect liabilities and they are listed in Schedule V, on pages 28-29 of Part I of this Report.

(1) Guaranteed Securities of Government Owned Enterprises.

The total amount of securities of the Canadian National Railway System, guaranteed by the Dominion as to the payment of principal and interest, outstanding in the hands of the public was $660 million as at March 31, 1944, a decrease during the year of $16.1 million. Similar securities guaranteed by the Dominion as to the payment of interest only, were outstanding on the same date in the amount of $9.1 million, a decrease of $1.4 million. The former reduction is due mainly to the redemption on February 1, 1944, of $15,500,000 Canadian National Railway Company 2½ per cent Bonds, out of the proceeds of a loan from the Government under the authority of the Canadian National Railways Refunding Act, 1938.

Other securities, representing obligations of the Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships Limited and various Harbour Commissions, which carry the guarantee of the Dominion, both as to principal and interest, were outstanding in the amount of $30.4 million as at March 31, 1944. This represented a decrease of $0.04 million during the year.

(2) Guaranteed Bank Loans for Grain Marketing Purposes.

Under authority of Order in Council, wheat trading was suspended on September 27, 1943, the Canadian Wheat Board on behalf of His Majesty acquired all commercial stocks of western wheat in Canada at closing market prices of that day, and the initial price to producers on deliveries to the Board for the balance of the 1943-44 crop and for the whole of the crop year 1944-45 was fixed at $1.25 for One Northern in store Fort William or Vancouver. The Board's operations in wheat were financed by loans from a group of chartered banks under guarantee of the Dominion Government. The amount of the guaranteed advances in respect of wheat outstanding as at March 31, 1944, which related to the purchase of the 1943 wheat crop, was $22 million.

By Orders in Council passed in 1942 and 1943 the Canadian Wheat Board was empowered to deal in flaxseed, soybeans, oats and barley, sunflower and rape seed. In order to finance these operations, guaranteed bank advances were obtained from certain chartered banks. The amounts of these guaranteed advances outstanding as at March 31, 1944, were as follows: in respect of flaxseed, $15.0 million; and in respect of sunflower and rape seed, $0.2 million.

(3) Guarantee of Seed Grain Loans.

Under the terms of The Seed Grain Loans Guarantee Act, 1938, the Dominion provided seed grain assistance to farmers in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta for the crop year 1938. This assistance took the form of a Dominion guarantee to chartered banks for loans made to municipalities which in the first instance were guaranteed by the Provincial Government. The principal amount authorized by the Act to be guaranteed by the Dominion was $14,500,000 in the case of Saskatchewan, and $1,900,000 in the case of Alberta. The Government of Alberta during the fiscal year 1941-42, paid to the interested banks all outstanding 1938 seed grain loans and accordingly the Dominion's liability with respect thereto was cancelled. In the case of Saskatchewan, a general guarantee was given for an amount not exceeding the maximum amount authorized. This guarantee was still outstanding at the end of the fiscal year, and the Dominion implemented its guarantee after the close of the fiscal year.

(4) Commitments in respect of National Housing Act Loans.

Under the Dominion Housing Act, 1935, and its successor Act, the National Housing Act, 1938, the Dominion has accepted and is accepting certain obligations arising out of its contracts with approved lending institutions which, while not expressed in the form of a guarantee, may nevertheless be regarded as contingent or indirect liabilities.

The manner in which losses in respect of any loan are to be shared by the Dominion and the lending institution is fixed by the contract. The general principle is that the Dominion bears two-thirds of the loss, if at the time the loss is sustained the principal amount of the loan repaid, less any other amounts due, is equal to or less than the amount advanced by the Dominion and one-third of the loss if at the time the loss is sustained the principal amount repaid, less any other amounts due, is more than the amount advanced by the Dominion. In the case of small loans (that is, loans not in excess of $4,000 in the case of a single family dwelling or not in excess of $700 per habitable room in the case of a multiple family dwelling), the share of the loss to be borne by the Dominion is not more than 80 per cent and not less than 50 per cent of the loss. The above provisions apply to loans made under both the National Housing Act, and its predecessor Act, the Dominion Housing Act. Under the National Housing Act, a new provision was added to encourage the making of small loans in such small or remote communities and in such districts of other communities as may be designated by the Minister of Finance in any contract. In respect of such loans, the Dominion has agreed in contracts with certain lending institutions to pay losses sustained by any such lending institution up to certain amounts determined by the contract which are not less than 7 per cent and do not exceed 25 per cent of the total amount of such loans made in such areas by each such lending institution.

An amount of $2,000,000 was appropriated for the fiscal year 1943-44, to provide for advances under the National Housing Act, not exceeding with the advance made jointly by the approved lending institution, $3,200 in respect of any one house, for the construction of houses where the Minister was satisfied that permanent houses could be constructed to relieve a serious housing shortage without threatening to create a post-war surplus. Loans to the number of 20,831 have been approved at March 31, 1944, under the Dominion Housing Act, 1935, and the National Housing Act, 1938, in the amount of $83,995,217. Losses recorded and paid to March 31, 1944, amounted to $2,644.78, covering the Dominion's proportion of the loss on seven loans. This amount represents total losses to that date under both the Dominion Housing Act, 1935, and Part I of the National Housing Act, 1938. These losses are offset in part by a profit of $497.74 realized by the sale of eleven properties. The net loss to March 31, 1944, is therefore only $2,147.04.

(5) Guaranteed Home Improvement Loans.

Under the terms of The Home Improvement Loans Guarantee Act, 1937, almost $50 million ($49,959,055.31, to be exact) had been loaned up to March 31, 1944, to home owners by chartered banks and other approved lending institutions. The contingent liability of the Dominion with respect to these loans was limited to 15 per cent of the aggregate of such loans made by each lending institution. As at October 30, 1940, after four years of operation, the $50 million loan authorization having been substantially exhausted, the Government's undertaking to provide a guarantee for this type of loan was terminated. After this date, loans made by lending institutions were not accepted for guarantee by the Dominion. As at March 31, 1944,

98.4 per cent of the total amount of all loans made had been repaid and, as 1,224 claims for losses in the amount of $446,234.17 had been paid up to March 31, 1944, of which $39,779.67 (including $9,060.58 interest) had been recovered, the contingent liability of the Government at the close of the fiscal year under review was the entire balance owing on all loans, i.e. $811,652.26. It will be noted that the total of claims paid amounted to only 0.893 per cent of the total amount of loans made.

(6) Guarantees of Bank Loans under Home Extension Plan.

By the provisions of the Appropriation Act, No. 5, 1942, provision was made for the Governor General in Council to guarantee loans made by chartered banks for the conversion of already existing dwellings into multiple housing units under regulations similar to those under The Home Improvement Loans Guarantee Act. The maximum amount of loans which may be guaranteed is $2 million, and the Government's guarantee is limited to fifteen per cent of the total amount of loans made.

As of March 31, 1944, 56 loans had been approved for a total amount of $106,475.28 to provide for 109 new units. There have been no claims for losses.

(7) Guarantees of Bank Loans by Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation.

Under the terms of an Order in Council dated February 16, 1943, the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation, a Government owned Corporation, was authorized to guarantee certain advances and interest thereon obtained by any person from a chartered bank in order to purchase, during the summer of 1943, coal, coke or briquettes for residential heating. The liability of the Corporation is limited to fifteen per cent of the aggregate amount of advances made by each bank, but the maximum amount of the guarantee is $500,000. The amount of the contingent liability of the Corporation at March 31, 1944, was $51,518.71, which includes a small amount relating to the purchase of coal in the summer of 1942.

Under the terms of an Order in Council dated August 11, 1943, the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation was authorized to guarantee certain advances, obtained by any person engaged in the production of logs or lumber, from any chartered bank. The liability of the Corporation is limited to twenty-five per cent of the aggregate amount of advances made by each bank. The amount of the contingent liability of the Corporation at March 31, 1944, was $174,153.46.

(8) Guarantees of Bank Loans and Bank Overdrafts to Finance Munitions Contracts.

The Government guarantees the repayment of bank loans together with interest thereon obtained by certain contractors in connection with contracts placed by the Department of Munitions and Supply. As at March 31, 1944, the amount of such guaranteed bank loans authorized was $8.4 million, and the amount actually outstanding was $4.7 million.

Under the terms of an Order in Council dated May 4, 1943, the Government guarantees bank overdrafts obtained by certain Crown companies and management-fee companies doing business under the Department of Munitions and Supply. Prior to the establishment of this system of financing, funds advanced by the Government to the contractors remained idle for considerable periods. The amounts of the various overdrafts are repaid monthly, so no liability is outstanding at the close of the fiscal year in connection with this guarantee. The maximum amount of guarantees authorized at March 31, 1944, was $190,985,000. Interest paid by the Government on these overdrafts for 1943-44 amounted to $1,224,780.18.

(9) Guarantee of Provincial Receipts from Gasoline Taxes under Dominion-Provincial Taxation Agreements.

Under the terms of the Dominion-Provincial taxation agreements, and pursuant to Section 5 of the Dominion-Provincial Taxation Agreement Act, 1942, provision is made for the payment to each province of the amount by which the net receipts from the tax imposed by the Province on gasoline sales are less than the net receipts from this source during the fiscal year of the province ended nearest to December 31, 1940. The gasoline tax revenues that have been thus guaranteed aggregate $56.7 million. Expenditure in fulfilment of this guarantee during 1943-44 amounted to $11.8 million.

(10) Total Guaranteed Obligations Outstanding as at March 31, 1944.

For the details of the above and a number of other indirect or contingent liabilities, some of which are indeterminate as to amount, see Schedule V on pages 28-29 of Part I.

Total outstanding guarantees of the Dominion of Canada as at March 31, 1944, excluding amounts not yet determined or indeterminate, were as follows:—

	Millions of dollars
Railway and other securities in hands of public—
Guaranteed as to principal and interest.....	$ 690.3
Guaranteed as to interest only.....	9.1
Deposits maintained by the chartered banks in the Bank of Canada.....	359.2
Other guarantees (excluding amounts not yet determined or indeterminate).....	53.7
	$ 1,112.3

In conclusion, may I express the hope that Ministers of the Crown, Members of Parliament, and the general public will find the additions and other changes in this fiscal year's Public Accounts helpful to them. As I indicated at the beginning, other improvements are under consideration; they may be expected in future reports.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. CLARK,
Deputy Minister of Finance.

COMMENTS ON THE BALANCE SHEET

General—The following comments deal in the main with the broad categories of Assets and Liabilities. The individual accounts are dealt with throughout Part II under the various departments to which they relate. The distinction between "Active" and "Non-active" Assets is explained on Page XV of the Introduction. As also explained on Page XIII the balance sheet this year has been presented in a revised form by a re-grouping of items under new headings. The condensed cash statement and the schedules thereto included in previous Public Accounts have been replaced by extending the comparative feature of the Balance Sheet to the schedules.

ASSETS

1. (a) Cash in Current Deposits represents balances at credit of the Receiver General of Canada in banks in Canada, London and New York as at the close of the relative fiscal years. Deposits held in London are converted at  $$4.86\frac{2}{3}$  to the pound sterling and in New York at  $$1$  Canadian to the U.S. dollar. The account in Schedule A shows a negative balance in total deposits in Canada. This is occasioned mainly by the revenues of the Dominion received after April 1st of each year being credited almost entirely to the new fiscal year while expenditures continued to be charged up to and including April 30th to the old fiscal year pursuant to Section 32 (1) of The Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act. At no time were the Dominion's bank accounts overdrawn.
1. (b) Special Deposits consist of cash balances in the hands of the fiscal agents of the Government for purchase or redemption of Dominion of Canada securities and for payment of interest.
2. Departmental Working Capital Advances constitute the advances outstanding at the close of the relative fiscal years for working funds of certain government departments and represent work in progress and the value of stock or material on hand as shown in detail in the Schedule.
3. (a) These amounts represent the net outstanding advances made to Railway and Steamship Companies for capital expenditures, purchase of railway equipment and for debt retirement. Interest in full is currently paid on that part that is by contract interest bearing.
3. (b) These are advances to enable the Foreign Exchange Control Board to finance the purchase of gold and foreign exchange. Interest is paid at the rate of 1 per cent per annum.
3. (c) These are net advances outstanding made to various government agencies of an independent or quasi-independent nature, for working capital, construction, etc. Included in this category are advances made under the War Appropriation Acts to Crown Companies and Crown Plants organized under the direction of the Department of Munitions and Supply and the Department of Finance.
3. (d) Under this heading there has been grouped loans to Provinces under Relief Acts and other legislation, and loans to Municipalities under the Municipal Improvement Assistance Act.
3. (e) This category combines advances made to allied countries under Section 3 of the War Appropriation Acts, the loan to the Government of the United Kingdom under the authority of the War Appropriation (United Kingdom Financing) Act, 1942, and certain loans made following the war of 1914-18. There is also included in this category an item of  $$200,000,000$  representing an adjusted liability of the United Kingdom to Canada in connection with the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.
3. (f) This category comprises a number of miscellaneous loans and advances, such as those made under the Dominion and National Housing Acts and those made through the Department of Munitions and Supply to private companies under the authority of the War Appropriation Acts.
4. (a) This amount represents the cost of the Government's investment in the entire capital stock of the central bank of Canada acquired under the authority of The Bank of Canada Act Amendment Act, 1938.
4. (b) Under the Central Mortgage Bank Act, a Central Mortgage Bank was created with an authorized capital stock of  $$10,000,000$  all of which was subscribed for by the Dominion Government. The  $$250,000$  represents the amount of stock issued and paid for at the rate of  $$2.50$  in respect of each  $$100$  share. Due to the war the bank has remained inoperative.
4. (c) This account represents the principal outstanding of amounts furnished the Canadian Farm Loan Board to be loaned on farm property and fishermen's land. Interest in full is being currently paid by the Board on its bonds and on initial capital advances.
4. (d) The main item under the heading of Miscellaneous Investments is the securities investment account consisting chiefly of the cost of acquisition of Dominion Government direct and guaranteed securities, including victory bonds held under instalment purchase plans for civil servants and members of the armed forces.

5. In this account are recorded financial adjustments with some of the provinces at the time they entered the Dominion. Interest is paid half-yearly by the provinces.
6. This account consists of discounts, commissions, redemption bonuses and conversion premiums on loan flotations since 1930 remaining to be charged off annually to expenditures in proportion to the term of the respective loans. The amortization of these costs is shown in detail by loan issues in Appendix No. 2, page 40. The increase in the account of $6,702,142.89 is due to new loan flotation costs to be amortized, less the annual write-off as follows:

New loan flotation costs to be amortized—
Fourth Victory Loan, 1943-46.....	$ 988,209 41

	$ 6,702,142 89

7. The accounts in this category cover items in which there are elements involving uncertainty as to accounting treatment or disposition. The accounts are cleared when the necessary information becomes available. The main items in this account are two contra accounts appearing in sections 10 and 13 included in the liabilities and are therefore merely book-keeping entries.

* The revised balance sheet for 1943-44 reflects the usual annual increase of $25,000,000 in the reserve account set up for possible losses on ultimate realization of active assets. Previously this reserve was intended to apply to active loans and advances. The change this year was made to enlarge the coverage to make the reserve generally applicable in respect of possible losses on the whole range of active assets.

8. The net debt of the Dominion is divided to show expenditures that have been charged in the Dominion's books to (a) Non-active Assets, and those charged to (b) Consolidated Deficit Account. All expenditures charged to non-active assets classified as between "Capital" and "Other", are shown in schedules K and L to the Balance Sheet. Changes in these accounts may be readily ascertained by referring to the last column in the said schedules.

The Consolidated Deficit Account (formerly designated the Consolidated Fund) is the account to which the excess of expenditures over revenues or revenues over expenditures is transferred annually exclusive of capital expenditure and other non-active accounts mentioned in the preceding paragraph and included in Schedules K and L. The excess of expenditures over revenues during 1943-44 carried to Consolidated Deficit Account was $2,517,483,800.78. This amount added to the net increase in expenditures on capital and other non-active accounts of $39,751,991.09 gives the total deficit or increase in the net debt for the year of $2,557,235,791.87.

LIABILITIES

9. This category covers obligations that are payable on demand. Generally, the creditors are in possession of some form of the Dominion's negotiable paper that is due and payable forthwith.
10. (a) Deposits in the Post Office Savings Bank during 1943-44 exceeded the withdrawals by $3,412,560.09. An amount of $500,000 representing the estimated accrued interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum was added, bringing the total amount at credit of depositors' accounts on March 31, 1944 to $28,286,551.57. Gold held on March 31, 1944, as required by Section 47 of the Savings Bank Act amounted to $2,828,655.16 valued on the basis of $20-671834 per ounce fine.
10. (b) An amount equal to five per cent of their average outstanding note circulation is maintained by each chartered bank with the Receiver General of Canada, as required by section 64 of the Bank Act, 1934, to secure redemption of their outstanding notes in the event of the suspension by a bank of payment in specie or Bank of Canada notes. The amount is adjusted annually on June 30th and interest at the rate of three per cent per annum is allowed to each bank on the deposit required.
10. (c) The accounts in this category represent the Dominion's liability for monies deposited for various purposes. They fall into two broad classes. The first of these are the deposit accounts which cover those cases where the government: (a) acts as custodian of funds as a matter of policy; or (b) has received the monies in prepayment of war supplies, or as a guarantee that work will be properly performed. The other class, comprising the large majority of the accounts, consists of those where the government acts virtually as trustee, administering the funds in accordance with the purposes for which they were created.
11. (a) The value of all outstanding annuities at March 31, 1944, stood at $213,561,537.00. Interest credited to the fund at the rate of four per cent per annum amounted to $7,802,408.56 for 1943-44, and the amount credited to the fund to maintain the reserve during the year was $32,180.49.
11. (b) and (c) These categories record the Dominion's liability as an insurer of certain persons and as administrator of certain pension funds. The government receives premiums or similar assessments, and in turn pays out specific benefits. There is also included the uninvested portion of the Unemployment Insurance Fund administered by The Unemployment Insurance Commission.
12. This category, Deferred Credits, comprises certain departmental credit balances where accounting treatment is known but which are held for final disposition pending completion of certain conditions.
13. The accounts in this category cover items in which there are elements involving uncertainty as to accounting treatment or disposition. The accounts are cleared when the necessary information becomes available.
14. This account represents the difference, with subsequent adjustments, between the actual and the established debt of the provinces on entering the Dominion. Interest is paid to the provinces half-yearly on their relative debt allowance.
15. (a) The reserve account for losses on wheat marketing guarantees, first established in 1940-41, was reduced during 1943-44 by $2,970,769.57. This adjustment was occasioned by a further improvement in the Canadian Wheat Board's balance sheet based on calculations made as at July 31, 1943.
15. (b) This reserve account, more fully dealt with under the Department of Munitions and Supply, Part II, Page K-70 was set up for the adjustment of interim billings and for unascertained losses and other contingencies of certain crown companies.
16. Obligations both due and outstanding payable in sterling and U.S. dollars are recorded in the balance sheet at par of exchange. Similarly on the asset side of the balance sheet, as previously mentioned, cash and special deposits held in London and New York are shown at $4.86% to the pound sterling and $1 to the U.S. dollar.

Details of the unmatured funded debt of Canada may be found on page 27. The increase during 1943-44 of $2,950,999,826.05 is accounted for as follows:

NOTE.—The above table is based on the classification of accounts for the fiscal year 1935-36. In that year the following expenditures formerly classified as Special Expenditures were charged to Ordinary Expenditures: Cost of Loan Flotations, Adjustment of War Claims, Expenditures under Railway Grade Crossing Act, Government contribution to Superannuation Fund and payment required to maintain reserve in Government Annuities Fund. A new category of expenditures entitled Government Owned Enterprises was also set up to include operating deficits of and non-active advances to Government Enterprises operated as separate corporations. To enable comparisons to be made on a comparable basis with earlier years, appropriate adjustments have been made, for the purpose of this table, in the figures shown under the various headings beginning with the fiscal year 1929-30.

It will be noted that total disbursements include non-active loans and write-down of assets, in addition to all other expenditures.

† Includes $25,000,000 as reserve against possible losses on assets.

Part II

OFFICE OF THE
COMPTROLLER OF THE TREASURY

OTTAWA, January 6, 1945.

Dr. W. C. CLARK,
Deputy Minister,
Department of Finance,
OTTAWA.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit to you Part II of the Public Accounts of the Dominion of Canada for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944.

The series of accounts designated in the 1943 Report as Trust and Special accounts has been included this year under the title of Open Accounts. This nomenclature is considered descriptive of the accounts concerned and is more readily understood than the former title. Both titles cover the same accounts, i.e. asset and liability accounts which remain open at the close of the fiscal year.

This year a statement of accounts receivable is included in each departmental section. Each statement shows the amount of outstanding accounts for the current year and for previous years, with the latter divided to show the amount considered to be uncollectable.

Studies are continuing with the view to including other statements which, like the foregoing, may be said to have the effect of enhancing the informative value of the Report.

During the year a defalcation was discovered in our office for the Department of National War Services and the Assistant to the Treasury Officer was convicted of converting government funds to his own use by theft and conversion. The amount involved was $6,698.51. This will be subject to some reduction by reason of recoveries made after the accounts for the year were closed.

Respectfully submitted,

B. G. McINTYRE,
Comptroller of the Treasury.

The annual contributions agreed upon by the 1936 conference expired with the fiscal year ended March 31, 1942. The conference recommended that, should it be proved impracticable to assemble the next conference before the autumn of 1941, the existing scale of contributions would be maintained, pending the calling of a conference when circumstances permit. The payments, therefore, represent Canada's usual contributions as follows: Farnham House Laboratory, £1,250; Imperial Agricultural Bureaux, £3,875, plus £656 additional for potato research; Imperial Bureau of Entomology, £1,100; Imperial Bureau of Mycology, £600.

The difference between the amounts voted and those expended is due to the fact that the Estimates were based on the par rate of exchange, viz. $4.86½. The official rate is $4.47.

D Payments amounting to $13,702.62 were made to the Canadian Fairbanks-Morse Co. Limited, for 1,220 hog scales to be re-sold to producers of hogs, at cost, by authority of P.C. 1444 of February 27, 1941, and P.C. 5/2814 of April 7, 1943. Proceeds from sales amounting to $13,507.52 were credited to this allotment.

H Consists of the following groups of payments:—

Horse Breeders' Clubs, $25,280.19 (Manitoba, $6,069.53; Saskatchewan, $14,993.51; Alberta, $4,217.15). The Department pays 75 cents for every mare bred plus 25 per cent of the service fee on such mares as prove to be in foal, plus $1 for each registered pure bred mare in foal.

Premiums to owners of pure bred stallions, $35,642.25 (Nova Scotia, $870; Prince Edward Island, $821.25; New Brunswick, $1,372.50; Quebec, $25,998; Ontario, $5,815.50; British Columbia, $765). These premiums, which are shared jointly with the provinces, are based on the class of stallion and the number of mares left in foal, according to a schedule for each province, prepared by a Dominion-Provincial Board. The amounts shown represent the Dominion's share.

Grants to Horse Breeding Stations, $3,309.25. A proprietor of a Breeding Station must own or control three or more stallions. The basis of the grant is $187.50 per stallion.

Premiums under the Ram Club Policy, $4,252.25. Under this policy, ram clubs deposit with the Department stated amounts for rams. The Department purchases the animals and absorbs the differences in costs. Purchases amounted to $11,046.25, deposits, $6,794.

Club Work (Prize Money, etc.), $20,451.58 (shared jointly with the provinces)—Calf Feeding Competitions, $12,412.64; Boys' and Girls' Swine Clubs, $1,268.01; Poultry Fairs, Sheep Fairs, Boys' and Girls' Lamb Clubs, Bacon Litter Competitions, etc., $6,770.93.

Many departmental live stock policies entail payments in the nature of grants to clubs and the absorption of losses in free or partially free distribution of live stock. All are made on ministerial authority from the primary allotment included in the vote and approved by Parliament for this class of assistance.

- At the end of the second year thereafter, 4 per cent of the said amount;
- At the end of the two next succeeding years, 2 per cent of the said amount.

Trenton Cold Storage Limited and F. W. Fearman Co., Limited, did not proceed with their construction programs.

The sums allotted for Winnipeg Cold Storage Co., Limited, Elgin Growers Co-operative, Municipal Abattoir and Public Cold Storage and Westbank Co-operative Growers have been re-voted for 1944-45.

Grants: Payments under this heading are made in instalments as in the case of subsidies. The companies listed did not conform at the outset with the provisions of the Cold Storage Act, therefore payment by way of grant was authorized by the Appropriation Act.

The above transfer was necessitated because the levy on grain ($3,580,616.09) plus refunds ($13,387.53) was insufficient to meet expenditures, a distribution of which by provinces and crop years follows:

As of March 31, 1944, there were 31 salaried employees paid from this account. The following were receiving salaries at an annual rate of $2,400, or over, exclusive of cost of living bonus on that date or at date of separation (shown in brackets): W. C. Barrie, $3,200; E. L. The Wheat Acreage Reduction Act, c. 10, 1942, as amended, superseded the Regulations formerly employed as authority for this program which was designed to encourage a reduction in the number of acres sown to wheat in the Prairie Provinces and to compensate farmers who effected such reduction.

F Represents payments, authorized by the Governor in Council, to rural municipalities for assistance rendered in connection with the handling of application forms.

G This item represents office rental paid through the Department of Public Works.

K The bases of payments are:

- (1) $2 per acre for each acre by which the wheat acreage in 1943 was less than that for the basic year 1940; on farms that had no wheat in 1940 the basic year used was 1939;
- (2) $2 per acre for each acre by which the wheat acreage in 1942 was less than that for the basic year 1940;
- (3) $2 per acre authorized by the 1941 Regulations in respect of wheat acreage reduction in 1941 lands seeded to grass or rye in 1941 and which were still in grass or rye on July 1, 1942.

Due to heavy fall rains and late harvest, it was not possible for some farmers to file their claims in time for a fall inspection in 1943. Largely as a result of this, 13,108 claims in the area had not been finally disposed of at the end of the fiscal year.

A summary of the payments made during the year follows:—

Administration and promotion expenses in connection with the flotation of various Victory Loans and sales of War Savings Certificates and stamps were incurred by the National War Finance Committee, the establishment of which was approved by P.C. 45, January 7, 1942, as amended. A detailed breakdown of these expenses will be found in Appendix No. 4 to this section, page CC-73.

Additional expenditures on account of the Third, Fourth and Fifth Victory Loans totalling $17,363,542.76, were charged to Deferred Charges—Unamortized discounts and commissions on loans (see under Open Accounts further on in this section) to be written off annually over the life of the loans. Of the total, $5,057,017.39 was paid to canvassers for commissions on bonds sold to persons who were not (a) included on a special names list, (b) classified under "employee subscriptions" or (c) members of the Armed Forces; $6,827,325 to dealers and brokers, and $5,234,724.86 to Banks, Trust and Loan Companies as authorized by P.C. 2768, April 6, 1943, and P.C. 8792, November 16, 1943. The balance of $244,475.51 was the cost of the premium allowed on conversions.

An amount of $69,912.52, representing profits on the Bond Trading Account was credited against the above expenditures for the Fourth and Fifth Loans.

E At the close of the fiscal year, only a small portion of the expenses in connection with the Sixth Victory Loan had been paid.

The following table exhibits details of sales and expenses (excluding premiums and discounts) of the first five Victory Loans as at March 31, 1944:

Under the provisions of The Dominion-Provincial Taxation Agreement, 1942, c. 13, 1942-43, the Minister of Finance, with the approval of the Governor in Council, may enter into an agreement with the government of any of the provinces of Canada to provide, subject to terms and conditions, that the province and its municipalities shall cease to levy personal income and corporation taxes for the duration of the war and for a certain readjustment period thereafter, and to provide for the payment of compensation by the Dominion to the province therefor. Section 5 of the Act provides, subject to terms and conditions, for compensation to the provinces by the Dominion for loss of revenue re tax on sale of gasoline. The annual Dominion compensation for corporation, income and gasoline taxes is computed on a basic year being, in the case of each province or municipality concerned, the fiscal year ending nearest to December 31, 1940.

Wartime conditions caused an influx of population into certain urban areas, thereby creating an acute shortage of housing accommodation. The above allotments were authorized to provide funds to alleviate this condition by the conversion of certain suitable large dwellings located in these areas into multiple housing units.

All properties were leased for a period of five years, with the Minister of Finance having the privilege of renewing the lease for a further three-year period or of terminating the lease on 30 days' notice. Maximum monthly rental paid for any building acquired for conversion was limited to one per cent of the appraised value of the property before conversion plus one-twelfth of the increase in annual municipal real estate taxes occasioned by the conversion of the said property. The dwelling units created by conversion were sublet by the Minister to suitable tenants, on one year leases subject to termination by the Minister on 30 days' notice. Rentals were set by officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Rentals totalling $27,149.80 were deposited to Special Receipts—Miscellaneous War Revenues.

Expenditures were restricted to $1,500 per dwelling unit produced by such conversion, and the total liability of the Crown under all contracts was not to exceed $50,000. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board was constituted by P.C. 2516, September 3, 1939, under authority of the War Measures Act of 1914 "to provide safeguards under war conditions against any undue enhancement in the prices of food, fuel and other necessities of life, and to ensure an adequate supply and equitable distribution of such commodities." From September 3, 1939, to December 1, 1941, the Board's activities were confined to selective controls of supplies and prices. The overall price ceiling became effective December 1, 1941, under authority of P.C. 8527, November 1, 1941, establishing the "Maximum Prices Regulations", and the powers of the Board to administer the ceiling were broadened by P.C. 8528, November 1, 1941. The "Maximum Rentals Regulations" were authorized by P.C. 8965, and the "Wartime Leasehold Regulations" by P.C. 9029, both dated November 21, 1941. The terms of the "Maximum Prices Regulations" stipulate that the highest price at which any person may sell any goods, or services defined in the regulations, is the highest lawful price at which he sold those goods or services during what is known as the "basic period"—September 15 to October 11, 1941—unless the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has ordered otherwise. To maintain equitable and orderly distribution of goods in short supply, the Board has issued a number of orders to regulate distribution, and administers coupon rationing of various food items. To assist the Board in controlling prices and maintaining supply, four companies, wholly owned by the Crown, have been incorporated: Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation Limited, Wartime Food Corporation Limited, Canadian Wool Board Limited and Wartime Salvage Limited. Assistance is given through payment of subsidies, modification or remission of duties and taxes, and government bulk purchasing when the "squeeze" cannot be absorbed or offset by trade and industry.

As of March 31, 1944, there were 5,030 employees paid from this account. The following were receiving salaries at an annual rate of $2,400 or over, exclusive of cost of living bonus, on that date or at date of separation (shown in brackets). The travelling expenses of these employees, where the amount was in excess of $300, are also shown.

Cash in current deposits represents the total of the balances at credit of the Receiver General of Canada in the several banks in Canada, London and New York at the close of the relative fiscal years. The negative year end balance in Canada is due mainly to the revenues of the Dominion received during April being credited almost entirely to the new fiscal year while expenditures continued to be charged to the old fiscal year up to and including April 30 pursuant to Section 32 (1) of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act. The account was not overdrawn at any time.

Cash in special deposits consists of balances in the hands of fiscal agents of the Government for the purchase or redemption of bonds and the payment of interest on the public debt, etc.

A This account relates to the transactions in gold at the Dominion of Canada Assay Office in Vancouver. Gold deposits which include the silver content of the deposits are purchased from mining companies and individuals for shipment to the Royal Canadian Mint, this account being debited with the value of the former transactions and credited with the value of the latter. The closing balance represents the statutory value of the gold, including that of the silver content, on hand in the Dominion Assay Office on that date.

B The amount shown as receipts is from the transfer of gold bullion to the Bank of Canada and sales of fine gold to the public, while disbursements represent payments made by the Royal Canadian Mint for newly-mined gold, old jewellery, dental scrap, etc. The closing balance represents the statutory value equivalent to $20.67+ the ounce fine of the gold on hand at that date, the net operating profit for the year having been transferred to Revenue—Bullion and Coinage.

C Receipts in these accounts represent the face value of all coin issued to the Bank of Canada and in the case of the Silver Purchase Account, the sale of fine silver to the public. Disbursements are the value of all metals purchased for coinage purposes as well as the net value of mutilated coin withdrawn from circulation. The closing balances represent the cost value of the metals on hand at that date, the net operating profit for the year having been transferred to Revenue—Bullion and Coinage.

A The Bank Circulation Redemption Fund consists of amounts deposited with the Minister of Finance by the chartered banks to secure the redemption of their outstanding notes, as required by Section 64 of the Bank Act, 1934. Interest at 3 per cent amounting to $118,510.44 was allowed on the required deposit of each bank and was charged to Interest on Public Debt.

B Under Section 16 of the Public Works Act, contractors are required to furnish security for the satisfactory performance of the work. This security may be in the form of cash (accepted cheque) or specified bonds. Cash deposits are credited to this account and bear interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum compounded annually. Upon administrative certification, releases are made to contractors. Bonds furnished as security are held in the custody of the Minister of Finance but are not recorded in this account. At the close of 1943-44, there were no bonds held in respect of the Housing Administration.

E These accounts reflect the balances of amounts remitted by the liquidators of certain defunct trust and insurance companies and represent unclaimed dividends due the ordinary creditors. No claims were presented during the present fiscal year.

F These accounts reflect the balances of amounts remitted by the liquidators of defunct banks to redeem bank notes still in circulation and unclaimed dividends of the bank assets due the depositors. The current disbursements cover payment for notes presented for redemption during the year.

G The credit balances of these accounts represent the amounts deposited with the Government to meet matured bonds and interest coupons which for the convenience of investors have been made payable at the offices of the Assistant Receivers General (and now at the agencies of the Bank of Canada). The receipts represent cash received from the Canadian National Railways while the disbursements were for interest coupons redeemed by the Bank of Canada.

H The fund represents the proceeds from the sale of lands set apart under 12 Vic., 1849, Chapter 200, for the support and maintenance of common schools in Upper and Lower Canada, now Ontario and Quebec. Income from the sales is apportioned to the two provinces on the basis of population. Interest, apportioned on the same basis as the proceeds, is paid semi-annually to the above-named provinces at the rate of 5 per cent per annum and is charged to Interest on Public Debt.

I This account was established under authority of P.C. 144 of January 18, 1936, by which the amount to be paid into Consolidated Revenue Fund is limited to $500,000, made up of a Government grant of $100,000 and deposits by the Trustees of public contributions. Interest on this fund, at 3 per cent per annum, is paid to the Trustees and charged to Interest on Public Debt under the above-mentioned authority. The receipt of $17,000 in the present fiscal year represents a deposit by the Trustees.

J This represents the unexpended balance of amount received from the liquidators of the Home Bank and the Commissioner under the Home Bank Creditors Relief Account, to provide for outstanding relief cheques, and to pay any claims of depositors which should have been, but were not, dealt with by the Commissioner.

K The balance in this account represents declared but unpaid dividends of estates, paid to the Receiver General in accordance with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act.

L This is the balance of a bequest made by the late William Scott, for the benefit of soldiers who served in the 1914-18 war. Payments are made on the application of the Canadian Pension Commission.

H This is a bond trading account in connection with the furtherance of the sale of Victory Loan bonds generally.

I Obligations payable in other than Canadian currency, such as those portions of the Funded and Floating Debt payable in London and New York are recorded in the Balance Sheet at par of exchange. Similarly assets held in London and New York such as cash, special deposits, and security investments are shown at $4.86½ to the pound sterling and $1 to the American dollar. In all other transactions the current market values are used, and the difference is adjusted by charging or crediting this account as required; and, at the close of the year, the excess of receipts over disbursements is transferred to Revenue—Premium, Discount and Exchange.

The following table shows the transactions, apart from certain adjusting entries, in this account for 1943-44:

A This reserve is to cover losses in connection with the wheat marketing operations of the Canadian Wheat Board. The amount of $2,970,769.57 represents a reduction in the reserve, a corresponding credit being shown in Revenue—Special Receipts and Other Credits. The action results from an improvement in the balance sheet position based on operations of the Board calculated as at July 31, 1942 and 1943.

B In previous years this reserve was applied to the category of active loans and advances. This year, it was considered desirable to enlarge the scope of the coverage so as to make the reserve generally applicable in respect of possible losses on the whole range of active assets.

Appendix No. 6*GOVERNMENT-OWNED COMPANIES

Government-owned companies formed in connection with the work of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board are:

The Canadian Wool Board Ltd.;

The Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation Ltd., (with a subsidiary:

Wartime Food Corporation Ltd.); and Wartime Salvage Ltd.

They were all incorporated under Part I of the Companies Act, 1934, as companies with share capital. The only shares issued—other than in the name of the Minister (of Finance) in trust for His Majesty the King in right of Canada—are directors' qualifying shares, all directors having made assignments in blank of such qualifying shares.

Agreements between the Minister and each of these companies provide, in substance, for:—(1) the performance by the company of such transactions as may be delegated to it by the Minister or the Wartime Prices and Trade Board; (2) the setting up of branch offices or the incorporation and organization of subsidiary companies; (3) the keeping of proper accounts of operations and the rendering of financial statements for each monthly period and for the fiscal year; (4) the Minister to be kept advised of the principles followed in the operation of the business; (5) express consent in writing of the Minister to be obtained for operations other than those necessary or incidental to the carrying out of the agreements; (6) amendments or supplements to the agreements to be approved by the Minister.

The Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation Ltd., has to do with the control of prices of goods, wares and merchandise in Canada, and the payment of subventions, subsidies, bonuses, etc., in accordance with principles formulated by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and approved by the Minister. The Canadian Wool Board Ltd. was formed to regulate the acquisition, conservation and distribution of domestic and foreign wool and related products, and to increase the production of wool in Canada by assuring sheep growers a stable market at known prices for all production of wool during the present war and one producing year thereafter. Wartime Salvage Ltd. was organized for the purpose, in co-operation with Dominion Government departments and agencies, of acquiring and disposing of waste or used matter of all kinds. It operates independently of salvage work conducted by the Army Salvage and Disposal Board, the Scrap Disposal Branch (Department of Munitions and Supply), the Salvage Officer (Treasury), and the National War Services Department.

Round sum advances to the companies are made at intervals under the authority of the War Appropriation Act. The accounts of the companies are audited by the Auditor General and the balance sheets and operating statements included herein were furnished, and certified, by him.

Subsidies paid by the corporation are subject in some cases to investigation and adjustment after payment by officers of the corporation. Therefore, payments now recorded may not be invariably regarded as final.

The net loss of $10,526,224.10 on commodity trading for the fiscal year includes an amount of $24,075.96 for war risk insurance premium on the corporation's inventory of commodities for the period October 1, 1942, to March 31, 1944. Although it is a provision of section 5 of the War Risk Insurance Act that a contract of insurance is binding only after payment of premium and execution of the policy, and by regulation it is provided that no coverage is in effect until two days after insurance is made, the amount of $24,075.96 includes a charge for premium for eight months prior to the signing of the application for insurance on June 1, 1943, during which period by the terms of the contract, no benefit could accrue to the corporation.

Yours faithfully,

WATSON SELLAR,
Auditor General.

NATIONAL BATTLEFIELDS COMMISSION

Ottawa, September 18, 1944.

Honourable J. L. Ilsley,
 Minister of Finance,
 Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

The receipts and disbursements of the National Battlefields Commission for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944, have been audited pursuant to the provisions of section 14 of the National Battlefields at Quebec Act, c. 57, 1908, and I submit herewith the following statements:

|  |               |
|--|---------------|
| Receipts and Disbursements of the National Battlefields Commission for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944.....           | Schedule "A"  |
| Investments in Securities and Cash Balances of the National Battlefields Commission as at March 31, 1944.....              | Schedule "B"  |
| Statement of Assets and Liabilities of the National Battlefields Commission as at March 31, 1944.....                      | Schedule "C"  |
| Statement of Revenue and Expenditure of the National Battlefields Commission for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944..... | Schedule "D". |

I have received all the information and explanations I have required, and in my opinion, the statement in Schedule "A" annexed hereto is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the receipts and disbursements of the Commission for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1944.

In my previous report, it was recommended that as soon as practicable, the present system and records of the Commission be revised to facilitate the production of accurate and comprehensive statements of the operations and affairs of the Commission. The statements of assets and liabilities and of revenues and expenditures contained in Schedules "C" and "D" annexed hereto have been submitted by the National Battlefields Commission. An unqualified audit certificate cannot be given with respect thereto, as the statement of assets and liabilities as submitted includes no reference to the capital cost of the roads and driveways of the Commission, and as no provision has been made for the establishment of appropriate depreciation reserves in respect of the property and improvements of the Commission. Suitable remedial action to adjust the accounting records with respect thereto should be initiated without delay.

Yours faithfully,

WATSON SELLAR
Auditor General.

Under the terms of the Pelagic Sealing Treaty of 1911, ratified by the Pelagic Sealing (Convention) Act, c. 39, 1938, Canada was to receive from the United States 15 per cent of the total number of sealskins taken annually upon the Pribilof Islands; from Japan 10 per cent of the total number of sealskins taken upon Robben Island; and from Russia 15 per cent of the total number of sealskins taken upon the Commander Islands.

Canada has received, during the fiscal year 1943-44, proceeds from sales of skins as follows: U.S.A. Pribilof Islands rookeries, 3,068 skins taken in kind by Canada and marketed in Montreal, $122,038.29; Canada's share of proceeds from sales by U.S. Government of 60,045 skins sold in St. Louis, U.S.A., $97,222.42.

The cost of dressing and dyeing, including freight, customs and excise duties, warehouse expenses, etc., amounting to $38,986.25, was charged to Vote 80.

No statement of take or of proceeds from sales, if any, has been received from Russia for many years or from Japan since the outbreak of war.

The amount of $2,562.22 represents sales from the Department's experimental areas in Prince Edward Island of: (a) marketable oysters; and (b) small oysters for stocking areas in outlying districts.

The Treaty between Canada and the United States, ratified by the Sockeye Salmon Fisheries (Convention) Act, c. 10, 1930, is designed to enable international control for the preservation of the Sockeye Salmon Fisheries of the Fraser River and waters contiguous thereto. The Commission is required to make all necessary study and investigation in relation to such Fisheries for the purpose of regulating fishing.

Non-shareable expenses incurred by the Canadian Commissioners amounted to $135.

During the fiscal year the United States refunded part of its share, $35,319.32, and pending collection, the balance of $6,079.24 was transferred to the Pacific Salmon Treaty Special Account under Loans and Advances.

A This account covers purchases of canned salmon, canned herring and frozen fish for the British Ministry of Food. Credit arrangements were established by the British Government with the Bank of Canada by which funds were released for payment of goods as shipments were forwarded. This procedure was discontinued on September 30, 1943 after which payments for purchases were made through funds provided by the Canadian Mutual Aid Board.

B Under authority of Section 4 (1) of The War Appropriation (United Nations Mutual Aid) Act, c. 17, 1943, funds were made available to the Department as from October 1, 1943, by the Canadian Mutual Aid Board to cover expenditures incurred in supplying canned salmon, canned herring and frozen fish to the United Nations (other than Canada). Of advances totalling $14,000,000, an amount of $11,261,478.55, consisting of $7,569,341.26 from Mutual Aid funds and $3,692,137.29 cash provided by the United Kingdom, was expended for this purpose and the balance refunded to the Board at the close of the fiscal year. Further details are shown under the Canadian Mutual Aid Board section of this Report.

C All cheques except those drawn against Open Accounts, which remain undelivered after six months subsequent to the date of their issue, are credited to this account. The above balance represents the liability in respect of this Department at the close of 1943-44.

During the fiscal year 1943-44 the Unemployment Insurance Commission continued to administer certain phases of the National Selective Service program. Although the additional expenses incurred in carrying out this program were properly a charge to an allotment from the War Appropriation, it was found impossible to segregate the expenses as between Unemployment Insurance and National Selective Service activities because—(i) a considerable part of National Selective Service Work would have been undertaken in the ordinary placement of workers; (ii) staff were engaged on both classes of work and did not devote their time exclusively to one or the other; and (iii) many of the new National Selective Service offices were operated by trained staff of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. In view of these circumstances, expenditures that were solely due to National Selective Service activities or to the work of the Unemployment Insurance Commission were charged accordingly and the remainder of the expenditures were charged originally to this vote and subsequently divided equally between the two services.

Towards the close of the fiscal year, Treasury Board approved of a reduction of $375,150 in the estimated expenditure and cash allotment from the War Appropriation for the National Selective Service program, it having been determined that this sum was surplus to actual requirements for the fiscal year.

As of March 31, 1944, there were 5,728 employees paid from this vote and from the war allotment for National Selective Service. The following table shows those who were paid annual salaries of $2,400 or over exclusive of cost of living bonus, on that date, or at date of separation (shown in brackets), as well as travelling expenses where the amount was in excess of $300.

A Under the provisions of the Relief Act, 1932, agreements were entered into with the Provinces, except Prince Edward Island, for the purpose of providing a measure of self-sustaining relief to families who would otherwise be in receipt of material aid by placing such families on the land. Renewal agreements under the Relief Acts of 1934, 1936 and 1940, provided for continuity of settlement with former agreements and also for additional placements of families. In organized municipalities, the Dominion contributes one-third of the maximum amount provided under the agreements; the remaining two-thirds being contributed by the Province and municipality concerned. In unorganized municipalities, the Dominion and the Province share equally in the expenditures.

The following amounts were paid the Provinces: Quebec, $68,366.65; Manitoba, $1,394.22; Saskatchewan, $15,592.08; Alberta, $256.30. The amount paid the Province of Saskatchewan represents adjustment of over-refunds made in connection with relief expenditures. The payment was applied as a credit to Province of Saskatchewan Treasury Bills Series R-122 held by the Department of Finance.

B This amount was paid to the Province of Manitoba in connection with direct relief agreements of previous years.

| Allotment: National Selective Service Program—Manpower Statistics Unit ..... | 168,000 00    |
| Expenditures .....   | $ 161,689 39 |

Treasury Board Minute T.247281 B., August 7, 1943, authorized the division of the estimate and allotment from the War Appropriation for National Selective Service Program—Manpower Records into two separate items, National Registration-Administration and Manpower Statistics Unit (heretofore the expenses in connection with the latter were paid from the allotment for Manpower Records which was established under the National Selective Service Civilian Regulations, P.C. 246, January 19, 1943). The unit was set up for the purpose of compiling data from the occupational history forms of persons in the armed services, from general surveys of employment, from specific surveys of employment in particular industries and from other special surveys such as registration of women and nurses and for the computation of figures dealing with placements, vacancies, etc., by type of industry.

| Allotment: Japanese Wood Projects Account—Revolving Fund ..... | 500,000 00    |
| Expenditures .....   | $ 170,960 06 |

P.C. 4365, May 28, 1943, authorized this allotment from the War Appropriation to provide working capital for the financing, by means of a revolving fund, of an undertaking to utilize the services of employable persons of the Japanese race for wood fuel cutting and timber operations. At the end of the fiscal year, the position of the fund, which was operated as a continuing open account, showed an excess of moneys paid in over moneys paid out to the extent of $329,039.94.

During the course of the year, it was decided to discontinue the operation of revolving funds as continuing open accounts. Instead, in future, the relative annual allotments will themselves be operated as annual revolving funds.

In accordance with this policy, the open account revolving fund, the details of which are shown under Sundry Suspense Accounts in this section, was closed by crediting the above-mentioned excess amount to this allotment. The expenditure of $170,960.06 shown above, represents the residue of working capital advances to be accounted for.

| Vote 483 Cost of settling outstanding flood damage and land claims on Lac Seul as provided under the agreement confirmed by the Lac Seul Conservation Act, 1928. | Expenditures.....   | $ 84,216 00 |

Various claims have been outstanding for many years and representatives of this Department and the Department of Lands and Forests of the Province of Ontario conferred during 1943, with a view to reaching a settlement. The proposed settlement was later approved by the Minister of Mines and Natural Resources of the Province of Manitoba as that Province is required to refund, under amortization agreements, the Dominion's expenditures.

The claims allowed in the settlement were as follows:

|   |                      |
|---|----------------------|
| Department of Mines and Resources, Indian Affairs Branch—for damages to Indian lands..... | 72,539 00            |

|   | $ 141,960 00 |

Under the Lac Seul Agreement the Dominion was obligated to pay three-fifths of this sum amounting to $85,176 and Ontario, two-fifths amounting to $56,784. The above appropriation was authorized to cover the Dominion's share.

The financial settlement with the Province of Ontario also included an amount of $17,276 owed by the Indian Affairs Branch for excess lands included in the Indian Reserve purchase.

Payments from the above account were as follows:

The above amount was paid to the Province of Ontario in accordance with the agreement of November 15, 1922, between the Dominion and the Provinces of Ontario and Manitoba regarding the control of the upper waters of the Winnipeg River.

Treasury Board authorized the change in the Primary Allotments from the form set out in the Estimates Details, as, in the opinion of the Department, circumstances rendered it desirable that the vote should be administered and controlled by the specific services indicated by the Special Committee of Parliament at the time the vote was first provided.

During the Session of 1926-27, a Special Committee of the Senate and House of Commons dealt with matters pertaining to Indians, more particularly the policy adopted in the early days of paying annuities to individual Indians. Upon consideration of the changed conditions throughout the country, the Committee found that the need and usefulness of such per capita payments to Indians in British Columbia would be negligible, and recommended that, in lieu of payments to them such as are allowed in other provinces, a sum of $100,000 should be expended annually on technical education, provision of hospitals and medical attendance; in the promotion of agriculture, stockraising and fruit culture; and in the development of irrigation projects. The Committee concluded that the said purposes would seem to be far more applicable to the Indians in their present condition than the payment of any per capita amount.

The recommendation of the Committee was approved by Parliament at the 1926-27 Session.

A This account is maintained for W. M. Cory, Solicitor in the Department, who is Public Administrator and Official Guardian for the Districts of Franklin and Keewatin, Northwest Territories. Deposits represent moneys received for estates in the hands of the Administrator and withdrawals are made under his direction.

B Under Section 16 of the Public Works Act, contractors are required to furnish security for the satisfactory performance of the work. This security may be in the form of cash (accepted cheque) or specified bonds. Cash deposits are credited to this account and bear interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum compounded annually. Upon administrative certification, releases are made to contractors. Bonds furnished as security are held in the custody of the Minister of Finance but are not recorded in this account. At the close of 1943-44, bonds so held in respect of the Department of Mines and Resources amounted to $296,500.

The amount in Mines and Geology account represents a deposit in connection with a guarantee that equipment rented to certain mining companies would be returned in good condition.

C This account represents the amount of the fund created under authority of the Land Titles Act, c. 118, R.S., to indemnify title holders who have suffered injury because of mis-descriptions in titles and from other causes specified in the Act. Fees are collected from the parties who register deeds with the Registrars of Land Titles in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon. Interest is added to the fund annually, the present rate being 3 per cent. The receipts consisted of fees, $153.79, and interest, $552.16. Over a long period of years there have been no claims for compensation paid from the fund.

D Revenue from the sale of liquor in the Northwest Territories is credited to this account and disbursements are made for territorial purposes in accordance with the Territorial Liquor Ordinance of April 27, 1939, as amended. The province of Saskatchewan acts as territorial liquor agent and operates stores at Fort Smith and Yellowknife. After deduction of certain agreed costs, the net receipts are forwarded to the Receiver General. Receipts are: liquor profits, Fort Smith store, $75,792.46; liquor profits, Yellowknife store, $32,480.70; fines, $1,129.67; refunds of expenditure, $5,139.82. Disbursements are: purchase of fire-fighting equipment, $1,858.23; one-half salary and bonus of dietitian in connection with nutritional survey of the Northwest Territories, $890.52; services and travel expense of economic geographer in connection with special investigation, $2,291.67; sundry payments and allowances, $550.

E Funds advanced by the Calgary Power Company for payment of fees and expenses of a consulting engineer, a landscape consultant and an inspecting engineer, in connection with construction and operation of a dam for the storage of a limited amount of the waters of the Cascade River and Devil's Creek in Lake Minnewanka (P.C. 7382 of December 13, 1940).

F Funds advanced by the Province of British Columbia and the Dominion Government as represented by the Department were credited to this account, in order to meet expenditures incurred in connection with boundary delineation work in accordance with the terms of P.C. 5355 of July 5, 1943.

G The balance at April 1, 1943 represented refunds to the Fund in the fiscal year 1933-34. As no further refunds are anticipated, the amount was transferred to Revenue—Previous Years' Expenditure in the present year.

H The Indian Trust Funds represent the funds belonging to the Indian Bands throughout Canada. Receipts were derived from: earned interest, land rentals, land sales, mining dues, timber royalties, oil land rentals and fines, and a grant of $7,500 from the statutory vote, Indian Annuities, to assist in the payment of the Robinson Treaty annuities. Disbursements comprised capital and interest distribution, improvements to Indian Reserves, upkeep of Band property and general assistance to Indians.

GENERAL COMMENTS

During the year, under the terms of an agreement authorized by P.C. 2901, May 12, 1943, the Government of the United Kingdom transferred to the Government of Canada, at cost, all assets representing its capital investment in munition plants in Canada. At the close of the fiscal year the final valuation thereof had not been determined. It has subsequently been set at $206,963,965.85, of which amount $200,000,000 was advanced in 1942-43 and $5,000,000 in 1943-44.

By the terms of another agreement, which was approved by P.C. 2092, March 23, 1944, and which became effective as of August 31, 1943, the Government of the United Kingdom also transferred to the Government of Canada (with certain exceptions) its interest in munitions production contracts in Canada. This included its equity in the Joint Production Pool as well as production advances it had furnished to private contractors. On account of the latter, Canada made a payment to the United Kingdom of $120,000,000 as authorized by P.C. 5560, July 13, 1943; but up to the close of the fiscal year, the aforesaid equity in the Joint Production Pool had not been established.

In reporting expenditures chargeable to this Department, consideration has been given to agreements between the Minister of Munitions and Supply and the Governments of the United Kingdom and of the United States with respect to refraining from the publication of information which might be of value to the enemy.

Because of the nature of the expenditures made from year to year, it is felt that the cumulative picture is of equal, and perhaps of more, importance than the current one. Since the appropriation and allotment accounts deal only with the current situation, a balance sheet presentation has been included (see page K-24) which summarizes the expenditures from commencement of the war to March 31, 1944. It will be noted, though, that certain aspects of the information contained in the supporting schedules thereto supplement the details given in the appropriation and allotment accounts.

There are two appendices attached to this section commencing at page K-71. The first contains the operating statements and balance sheets, certified by the Auditor General of Canada, of Crown Companies operating under agreements with the Minister; and the second, the balance sheets and operating statements of the Dominion Arsenals at Lindsay and Quebec.

CONTRACTS

General.—Details of the various types of contracts used by the Department of Munitions and Supply are given on page K-3 of Part II, Public Accounts, 1942-43.

Termination of Contracts.—Substantially all contracts placed by the Department of Munitions and Supply contain a clause permitting termination or cancellation in whole or in part before completion, at the discretion of the Minister. In the event of termination before completion, the contractor is entitled to payment for satisfactory services performed and to reimbursement of proper costs and commitments incurred up to the date of termination.

Under the conditions set forth in P.C. 5452 of July 9, 1943, authority has been granted to make interim or partial payments to a contractor in such amount as the Minister of Munitions and Supply may approve or authorize pending the conclusion of negotiations in connection with the terminated contract. Payments of this nature are considered as accountable advances to be taken into account in the final settlement. Such payments are subject to the approval of the Settlements Review Committee which has been established to approve, on behalf of the Minister, interim payments or final settlements under terminated contracts.

P.C. 9018 dated November 23, 1943, grants authority to the Minister of Munitions and Supply to reimburse a contractor for certain costs and expenses resulting from the termination of a contract which may be incurred after the date of termination.

By P.C. 136 of January 21, 1944, authority has been granted to the Minister of Munitions and Supply to make final settlements, upon such basis and terms as the said Minister may deem proper (subject as herein-after provided), of claims based upon or arising out of the termination or partial termination, prior to completion, of contracts entered into or placed by the said Minister in the name or on behalf of His Majesty, and to enter into and carry out such contracts or agreements as the said Minister may consider to be necessary or appropriate to evidence or give effect to any settlements so made; provided, however, that no such settlement shall be made or carried into effect, except with the authorization or approval of the Governor in Council, if the amount payable thereunder (exclusive of any amounts payable pursuant to the authority conferred by Order in Council P.C. 9018 of November 23, 1943), together with any amounts paid under the terminated contract prior to termination, shall exceed the total amount paid or payable pursuant to such contract for all of the work which would have been performed thereunder if the contract has not been terminated.

Payments made are a charge to the appropriations of the Department or Service on whose behalf the contract was placed.

During the year it was decided that certain revenues and refunds from War activities were to be classified as Special Receipts.
